UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

THE BROADWALK NEAR LINCOLN HALL

To the Mothers and Fathers whose sacrifices have made it possible for their children to receive the privileges and benefits of a college education, this Forty-Second Volume of THE ILLIO is dedicated.

FOREWORD

May this volume of the Illio serve as a permanent record of events, which, though dimmed by the passage of time, may be quickly recalled as you turn through the pages of this book. We hope the informal sketches and dignified oil paintings of the campus scenes and events will bring back to the student, and especially to the members of the senior class, the full years of their college life. Time which has passed can never return, but the memories of the past may be far richer than the experience itself. We hope that this yearbook for nineteen hundred and thirty-five will remind you of the days of your college career and as your eyes wander over its pages may your thoughts revert to the past. . . . . .

We are fortunate in living on a campus nationally acclaimed as being one of the most beautiful in the country. No matter what time of the year it is, whether you feel depressed or elated, at night or in the day time, you can always find company and consolation by walking down the broadwalk. On the next few pages are some scenes showing the different landmarks on the campus, which bring forceably to our attention the simple, striking splendor that continually surrounds us.

U N I V E R S I T Y

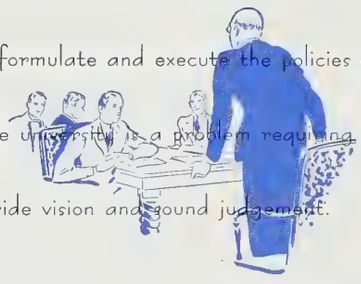

A university is an ever-flowing, ever-changing current. Each year new men and women enter the halls of learning and after a few years pass out through the time-honored portals into the world beyond. Each year new leaders, tested by two or three years of experience and service, assume the duties and responsibilities of administering the programs of classes and other organizations. In the same way do the customs and traditions change throughout the years. . . . . .

THE LIBRARY

To formulate and execute the policies of a large university is a problem requiring men of wide vision and sound judgement. . .

ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT

ARTHUR CUTTS WILLARD
President

There has been so much discussion in recent years of the value of a college education that I am glad to have an opportunity to put before the students of the University of Illinois this brief statement of what those of us who are charged with the administration of this institution conceive to be our responsibilities to you, to your parents, and to the public.

One of the fundamental purposes of higher education is training for citizenship and public affairs. I do not mean professional or technical training for public offices—although some of you, undoubtedly, will seek careers in some branch of governmental service—but preparation for a better and more useful life which will contribute to the welfare of society and humanity. We do not want to send from this University merely excellent teachers, business men, engineers, lawyers, and so on, but men and women who will use the knowledge and training they have acquired here in such ways that the communities in which they live will be benefited, and that they will be counted among their public spirited citizens. If by precept and example you influence others, perhaps less fortunate in circumstances and education, to lead better and more useful lives, to take an active interest in civic affairs and to promote public welfare, your education at the public expense will have been fully justified. Regardless of your financial or professional achievements, your lives will be successful and happy.

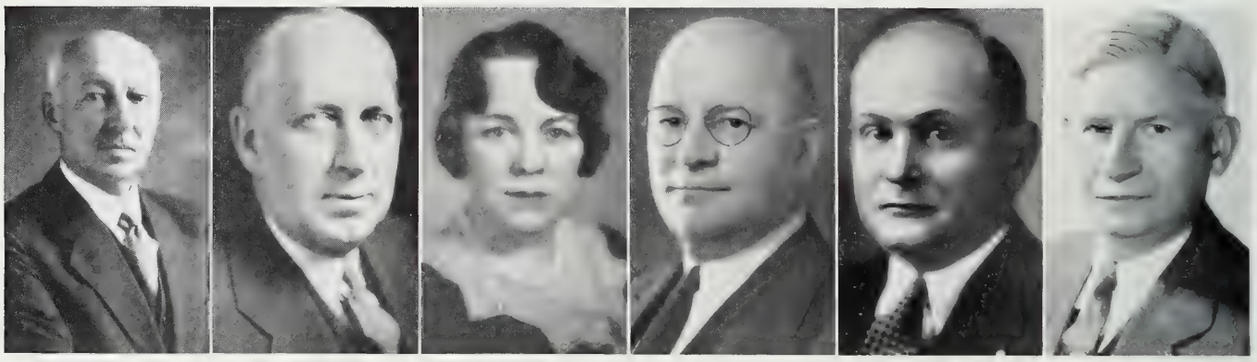

One of the things in which we are interested for your benefit is a greater emphasis upon the cultural side of the University's work, but without lessening its prestige as a seat of technological instruction. A general and generous culture will be a tremendous help to all of you when you deal with persons of wide culture who are not in your own special line. My plea to you, then, is that you consider the value of the liberal culture which the University can impart and which I think that you, however intensive your specialization, should eagerly welcome. I would suggest, therefore, that you develop, if only for practical reasons, such a background during your University years that when you leave the University you can qualify in more than one professional field or division of knowledge. You will then be not only more adaptable specialists but citizens of wider vision and more liberal impulses.

MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1935

On behalf of the Board of Trustees I am glad of the opportunity to extend to you greetings and to wish for you a complete realization of the hopes which prompted you in coming to the University of Illinois.

It is the responsibility of the Board of Trustees to administer the affairs of the University so as to advance the welfare and reputation of the institution in every way possible. In this task, the Board needs the cooperation and support of the public, the alumni, the faculty and staff, and the entire student body. Whatever progress the University makes or whatever good will it develops is due to a great extent to the efforts of young men and women like yourselves, now members of the student body, who become alumni of the future.

I am sure that you will not accept your part of the responsibility for the continued growth and development of our Alma Mater lightly.

Dean Melvin L. Enger

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Dean Melvin L. Enger, newly appointed head of the College of Engineering, was born in Decorah, Iowa, in 1884. After studying at the University of Minnesota for a time, he came to the University of Illinois to finish his undergraduate work. On the retirement of Prof. A. N. Talbot he became head of the Department of Theoretical and Applied Hechanics in 1929. Dean Enger has received three degrees from the University, the Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering in 1906, the professional degree of Civil Engineering in 1911, and the Master of Science degree in 1919. He has been on the University faculty since 1907. At present he is a member of the council of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and of a number of engineering societies and fraternities, including Tau Beta Pi and Chi Epsilon.

The history of the College of Engineering is as old as that of any of the Colleges in the University, for in May 1867, at its second meeting, the Board of Trustees adopted the report of the Committee on Courses of Study and Faculty which provided for the establishment of "courses in Mechanical Science and Art, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, and Architecture and Fine Arts." Instruction in Engineering began January 1, 1870, but announcements of the curricula in Engineering were not published until 1871-72 when four curricula were offered; namely, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, and Architecture.

Today the College of Engineering offers thirteen curricula and has a splendidly equipped Experiment Station which does research work in all branches of engineering. Graduate work in engineering has been increasing markedly in the last few years, and the several engineering departments are developing their graduate courses as rapidly as their resources will permit.

The work of the Engineering Experiment Station, which dates from 1903, is probably unequaled anywhere in the United States. The results of the Station's many noteworthy investigations have been published to date in 268 Bulletins and 23 circulars.

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

Dean Matthew T. McClure

Although points of view regarding a liberal education have changed considerably in the past century, there is a certain persistence from one generation to another of interests peculiar to the liberal college. It has been apparent that the problems arising from those interests have been taking a definite trend.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences reflects this trend in the wide variety of opportunities offered to undergraduates, whether in the so-called "humanities" or in the sciences. This College is concerned chiefly with fitting young people to meet the problems of the present age, for this purpose drawing upon the intellectual and cultural as well as the factual heritages of the past and present. The College also offers approaches to various professional schools and colleges, these approaches being in the main attempts to aid the student in finding himself both professionally and as an adult human being.

At the present time, the College is working out ways of offering greater opportunities and fewer obstacles to the better student, and more help and guidance to the student who has not yet found himself.

Matthew Thompson McClure, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, was born at Spottsford, Virginia, April 27, 1883. After receiving his Bachelor's degree at Washington and Lee University in 1904, he received a Master's degree from the University of Virginia in 1907, and 1912, a Doctor's degree at Columbia University. After teaching Philosophy at Columbia for three years, he went to Tulane University, where he became Professor of Philosophy. In 1921 he came to the University of Illinois as Associate Professor in Philosophy, became Professor of Philosophy in 1922, and in 1926 was appointed Head of the Department of Philosophy. In 1933 he was made Acting Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and last fall he assumed the title of Dean of the College.

DEAN CHARLES M. THOMPSON

THE COLLEGE OF COMMERCE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Courses in business were first organized in 1902 under the supervision of Dr. David Kinley, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and constituted the business curriculum of that College. In 1915 the College of Commerce and Business Administration was founded as a separate unit and was located in the building which is now the east wing of the Administration Building. The increased enrollment in business courses necessitated larger quarters, and in 1926 the present Commerce Building was dedicated.

The College consists of two departments, Economics, and Business Organization and Operation, whose primary object is to train the student in sound fundamental principles rather than in technique and routine, and with special training for particular business callings. To further this end, theories rather than practices are stressed in the classroom. Students in the College of Commerce therefore are led to know the way of whatever they undertake. To this end, courses in economics, accountancy, business organization and operation, banking, commerce, transportation, public utilities, and industry are offered in combination with courses in language and literature, the social sciences, law, mathematics, and the natural sciences.

CHARLES MANFRED THOMPSON, '09, Dean of the College of Commerce and Director of the Bureau of Business Research, was born in Fairfield, Illinois, on November 10, 1877. After securing his A.B. and A.M. degrees here in 1909 and 1910, respectively, he went to Harvard University, where he studied in 1910-11, returning to the University of Illinois in 1911. He has served continuously on the faculty of the University since that time and has been a member of the College of Commerce faculty since the organization of the College, in 1915. In 1913 he received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Illinois. He was promoted to the rank of professor in 1919 and at the same time was appointed Dean of the College of Commerce.

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Dean Herbert W. Mumford

Herbert Windsor Mumford, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension Service, was born in Moscow, Michigan, February 26, 1871. He attended Albion College and received the degree of Bachelor of Science from Michigan Agricultural College, from which he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Agriculture in 1927. He served on the faculty of the same school from 1895 to 1901, when he came to the University of Illinois as a professor of Animal Husbandry and Chief of the Animal Husbandry Experimental Station; he became Dean in 1922. Dean Mumford was a member of the American Study Commission for German Agriculture in 1928, and is now a member of various scientific and agricultural organizations.

A very large part of the population of Illinois lives in what may properly be called a rural environment. It is the duty and privilege of the College of Agriculture to train men and women for successful achievement and citizenship in such an environment.

The need for thorough training for agricultural leadership is obvious. It is becoming more and more evident that the farther removed we are from a frontier type of agriculture, the greater the need of a broad, liberal, as well as a technical education of college grade for men engaged in agricultural pursuits. Such an education the College of Agriculture offers. The experiment station is not only assisting in the solution of current agricultural problems, but also is constantly adding to the body of facts and principles which form the basis of our agricultural teaching and practice.

It is the aim of the College to make available to its students, through systematic instruction, the discoveries of science and the experiences of the best farmers of all time. Through experiment, investigation, and research, the Agricultural Experiment Station is constantly discovering new knowledge which is put into teachable form for the benefit of students and farmers.

Dean Thomas E. Benner

THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Thomas Eliot Benner, Dean of the College of Education, was born in Danvers, Massachusetts, February 11, 1894. He was graduated from Harvard University in 1914 and received his degree of Doctor of Education in 1924. His experience includes service as statistician and editor for the Alabama State Department of Education, and later, as acting dean of the College of Education of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the chancellorship of the University of Puerto Rico, and a visiting professorship at Columbia University. Recently, Dean Benner has been on the senate committee on educational policy, and a state legislative commission which investigated vocational teaching in Illinois. On September 1, 1931, he was made Dean of the College of Education at the University.

The College of Education had its origin in the creation of a chair of Pedagogics in 1893 and the selection of Dr. Frank Martin McMurry as its first occupant. The way for this action had been prepared by Charles de Garmo, Professor of Psychology, who had shown a special interest in the study of education. In 1900 there was established a Department of Education, which became the School of Education in 1907, and finally received its present title, the College of Education, in 1918.

Illinois is the third state in population and has a public school system that enrolls one and a half million pupils who are taught by forty-eight thousand teachers. There has been a steady increase in the preparation of teachers for the increasingly complex demands that are made upon them. The College of Education plays a major role in the task of supplying the schools with qualified teachers, supervisors, and administrators, particularly at the junior and senior high school levels.

In addition to the Division of General Education, there are special curricula in Agricultural Education, Industrial Education, and Home Economics Education. The laboratory work of the College of Education centers around the work of the University High School. This school, limited to 250 students, offers the customary high school curricula. The courses in educational practice are conducted by the instructors of the high school in connection with their teaching.

THE COLLEGE OF LAW

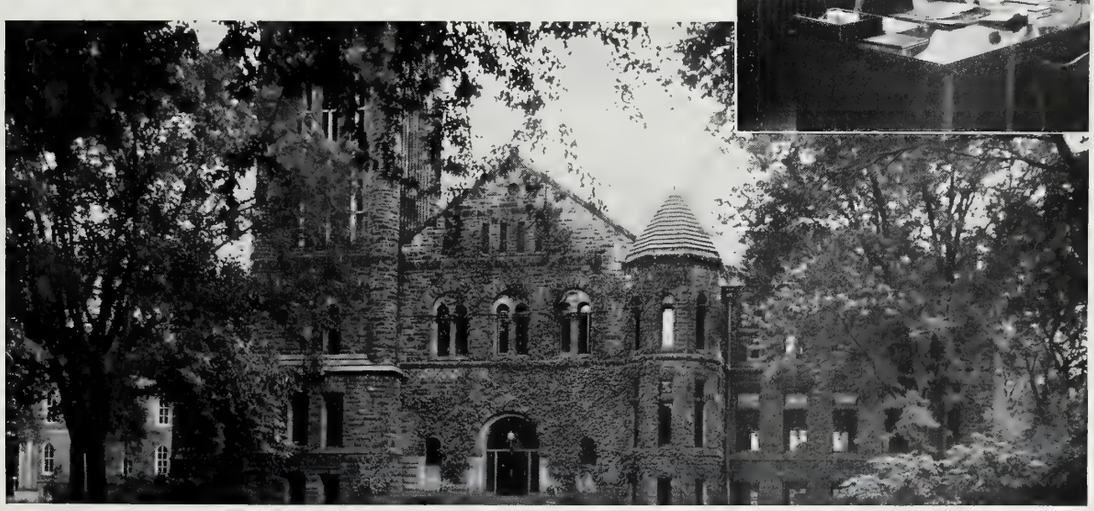

Dean Albert J. Harno

Legal education has had a rapid development during the last generation. In 1900 preparation for the bar through study in a lawyer's office was common. That year the Association of American Law Schools was formed. This Law School, through a representative, participated in the organization of that Association and became a charter member. The Association has had a far-reaching effect as a stimulus to the improvements of legal education throughout the United States. In 1921 the American Bar Association, in a formal resolution, adopted standards bearing on legal education and expressed the opinion that every candidate for admission to the bar should give evidence of graduation from a law school complying with those standards. In 1923 the Council on Legal Education of that Association, acting as a standardizing agency, gave its approval to a small number of law schools. This Law School was one of the first group to be approved by the Council.

During this period of transition and progress in legal education this School has advanced its standards even more rapidly than the general movement. When the School was organized in 1897 it admitted high school graduates to its courses. In 1911 the entrance requirement was increased to one year of college work, and in 1915 it was advanced to two years. In 1929 and 1931 further advances were made to the present requirements.

Albert James Harno is serving his fourth year as Provost of the University in addition to his position of Dean of the College of Law. He was born in Holabird, South Dakota, January 30, 1889. He was graduated from Dakota Wesleyan University in 1911, and in 1927 received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the same school. Dean Harno received his Bachelor of Laws degree, Magna Cum Laude, at Yale University, in 1914. He practiced in Los Angeles until 1917, when he became Dean of Washburn College of Law in Topeka, Kansas. In 1919 he went to the University of Kansas, where he served for two years as Professor of Law. He came to the University of Illinois in 1921 as Professor of Law, and became Dean in 1922.

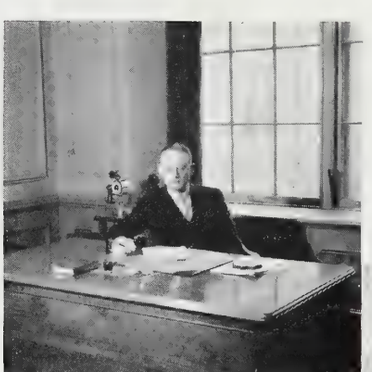

Dean Rexford Newcomb

THE COLLEGE OF FINE AND APPLIED ARTS

Training in the Fine Arts was provided in the original plans made for the University by the first Regent (president), Dr. John Milton Gregory, and early in the history of the institution, courses in drawing and architecture were offered. Music also made an early appearance, and by 1897 the School of Music had been organized as a separate educational unit. Training in Landscape Architecture was first offered by the College of Agriculture. Thus there grew up in four separate administrative divisions of the University the teaching faculties in Art, Architecture, Music, and Landscape Architecture.

For a number of years it had been felt that the Fine Arts interests on the campus should be brought into closer relationship. This however, was not possible until the Building for Architecture and Kindred Subjects was completed in 1927. Thereafter plans for the grouping of these interests moved rapidly forward with the result that in 1931 the College of Fine and Applied Arts was established. The College offers eight professional curricula in various branches of the Fine Arts, leading to appropriate degrees. In addition to the professional curricula in the arts, the College offers opportunities for students who wish to acquaint themselves with the arts from a purely cultural standpoint.

Rexford Newcomb, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, has been on the Illinois faculty since 1918 when he succeeded to the teaching work of the late distinguished Dr. Nathan Clifford Ricker.

Dean Newcomb's academic training was received at the Universities of Kansas and Southern California, from the latter of which he holds the Master of Arts degree. He took his professional training on the local campus and holds both the Bachelor's degree and the professional degree of Master of Architecture from Illinois. Before returning to Illinois to serve on the faculty he held professorships at the University of Southern California and at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. When the College of Fine and Applied Arts was organized in 1931 he was appointed its first dean.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Dean Robert D. Carmichael

Robert Daniel Carmichael, Dean of the Graduate School, was born in Goodwater, Alabama, March 1, 1879. He received his Bachelor's degree from Lineville College in 1898 and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Princeton University in 1911. He came to the University of Illinois in 1915 as Assistant Professor of Mathematics, becoming Associate Professor in 1920. From 1929 to 1934 he was head of the Department of Mathematics. In 1933 he became Acting Dean of the Graduate School, and Dean in 1934. He has published a few hundred articles on Mathematical, scientific, and philosophical subjects, and is the author of several volumes on these subjects. Two of his mathematical books have been republished in French translataions.

Graduate study began at the University of Illinois when its doors were first opened for instruction in 1868 with a faculty of four members and about fifty students. But the name "Graduate School" was not used in any University publications until 1892, when the Board of Trustees authorized the appointment of a special faculty to have charge of graduate work.

The principal aim of graduate study is the development of the power of independent thinking and the promotion of the spirit of investigation. In such work there is a close cooperation and fellowship between the instructor and the student and both are looking toward the enrichment of human experience through the increase of precise knowledge. The student who pursues an extended course is expected to obtain a wide knowledge of his subject and of related fields of investigation and to acquire and to begin to use the power of extending the range of what is known.

The Graduate School student body last year represented every state in the Union, twelve foreign countries, and two hundred and seventy-one universities and colleges. Three hundred and twenty-six Masters', ninety-four Doctors', and five professional degrees in engineering were conferred.

DIRECTOR PHINEAS L. WINDSOR

THE LIBRARY AND THE LIBRARY SCHOOL

PHINEAS LAWRENCE WINDSOR, Director of the University Library and the Library School, has completed twenty six years of library work at the University, having left the University of Texas, where he was Librarian for six years, to accept his present position in 1909. He was born on February 21, 1871, at Chenoa, Illinois, was graduated from Northwestern University in 1895, and studied at the New York State Library School from 1897 to 1899. On leaving there he began his active work as assistant in the New York State Library, but changed to the copyright office of the Library of Congress in 1900. Since being at the University of Illinois he has served on the council of the American Library Association and has belonged to the Bibliographic Society of America.

The University Library, through the General Library and its branches, provides the books needed by students for required reading for class work; it provides books for much of the students' general reading, such as those in the Browsing Room; it provides books for graduate students, who in writing theses often must consult many uncommon volumes; and it provides books the faculty need in their investigations. Not having all the books required, it borrows more than 500 books a year from libraries in other parts of the country, and buys from European libraries photographic copies of a few manuscripts and rare books that are too expensive to purchase. It loans to other libraries in this country about 1500 volumes a year for the use of research workers.

The Library School admits only college graduates. The instruction in the first year covers methods and practice in library work; students who complete this year of work are prepared for positions in library service. In the second year, administered by the Graduate School, historical and comparative methods are emphasized; new subjects and research methods are introduced to prepare the student for responsible positions in university and research libraries where bibliographic exactness is required.

THE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Director Lawrence W. Murphy

Classroom study of journalism at the University of Illinois has been continuous since 1902, the year in which Dr. Frank W. Scott, Professor Harry G. Paul, and the late Dean Thomas Arkle Clark were responsible for introduction of a two-hour course in editorial practices listed under the name of rhetoric and oratory. In the years that followed, a series of courses and a pre-professional curriculum were developed. The professional program was not developed, however, and the name School of Journalism was not used, until 1927 when college status was conferred upon the division of journalism.

This year the School of Journalism, now one of the largest in the United States, took steps to curtail the size of its graduating classes in the interests of higher standards and better conditions among the alumni who are practicing on newspapers. The old rule permitting students to graduate with a "poor plus" average gave way to one calling for a fair average or better.

This new regulation, which goes into effect next year, places the Illinois School among the leaders in the exacting character of its requirements as well as in size, facilities, and faculty strength. The seventy seniors and seventy-five juniors of the present year are divided among the three curricula of the School leading to general newspaper work, specialized practice, and advertising and management.

Lawrence William Murphy, Director of the School of Journalism, was born in Madison, Wisconsin, October 18, 1895. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin School of Journalism in 1921 and from the University of North Dakota in 1923, later pursuing advanced graduate work at the University of Illinois. He began his newspaper work as a cub reporter in 1916 and has maintained connections with the press since that time. In 1933 the degree of Doctor of Letters was conferred on him by Marquette University. Professor Murphy became a member of the Illinois faculty in 1924 and a year later was placed at the head of the courses in journalism. In 1927 he was appointed Acting Director of the School and in 1929 Director.

DIRECTOR GEORGE A. HUFF

THE SCHOOL OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The School of Physical Education, now rounding out its third year, is a reorganization of the Department of Physical Welfare. It is composed of three departments, Health Service, Physical Education for Women, and Physical Education for Men.

The Department of Health gives a thorough examination to each student upon entrance, and for those whose physical condition is not good these examinations are repeated at frequent intervals. Examinations are also given for all candidates for the various athletic teams. The department also cooperates with the state and city authorities in the control of contagious diseases, and has charge of campus sanitation.

The Department of Physical Education for Women has four main divisions: The required work for freshmen and sophomores; the professional courses for those who desire to major in physical education; faculty recreation; and intramural sport.

The Department of Physical Education for Men has many subdivisions: The four-year professional course in physical education, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science; the required work for freshmen and sophomores; intramural athletics; faculty recreation; and intercollegiate athletics.

GEORGE A. HUFF, '92, Director of the School of Physical Education, was born June 11, 1872, in Champaign. As an undergraduate at the University of Illinois from 1889 to 1893 he played on the football and baseball teams. He attended Dartmouth College in 1893-94, after which he returned to the University in 1895 as the Assistant Director of Athletics and Coach of the athletic teams, becoming Director of Athletics in 1901. He coached the baseball team for 24 years, winning eleven championships and tying for one other. He was made Director of Physical Welfare in 1924, and in 1932 advanced to his present position. "G" Huff saw two of his great dreams come true with the erection of the new Memorial Stadium in 1922, and the University Ice Rink in 1930.

THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY

Dean Frederick B. Noyes

Frederick Bogue Noyes, Dean of the College of Dentistry, was born in Chicago on August 22, 1872. He was graduated from Beloit Academy in 1889, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Johns Hopkins University in 1893, and that of Doctor of Dental Surgery in 1895 from Northwestern University. He began practicing dentistry in Chicago in 1895. He received the diploma of the Angle School of Orthodontia in 1908, and since then has limited his practice to orthodontia. From 1896 to 1913 Dr. Noyes was professor of Histology at Northwestern University. He came to the University of Illinois College of Dentistry as Professor of Dental Histology and Orthodontia in 1913. Since 1921 he has continued as Professor of Orthodontia, and in 1926 he succeeded to the deanship of the College of Dentistry.

The College of Dentistry is making every effort to develop men with both professional and technical training to supply occupants for positions in hospitals and medical schools, where the need is for men who can approach intelligently the large problems in these fields. To this end, the entrance requirements have been increased to sixty hours, and the dental curriculum now includes more courses in medicine, so that the graduate in dentistry is now equipped to act as a consultant in problems which involve both medicine and dentistry. The College has offered a graduate course in orthodontia leading to the degree of Master of Science since 1922. The course has now been so reorganized and extended that it prepares the student not only for research and teaching, but for the practice of orthodontia as a specialty. These afford an attractive field of investigation to the student who wants to work in a field where the unknown and the unexplored offer endless possibilities for research.

The College of Dentistry is located in the clinical center of Chicago, opposite Cook County Hospital, in two buildings both of which have ample space for laboratories, operating rooms for the several clinics, amphitheaters for general assemblies, classes and student activities, recitation rooms, and recreation rooms for women and for men.

Dean David J. Davis

THE COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

David John Davis, Dean of the College of Medicine, was born in Racine, Wisconsin, on August 10, 1875, and studied first at the Racine Academy. In 1898 he received his B. S. degree from the University of Wisconsin, and in 1903, his M. D. degree from Rush Medical College, in Chicago. He also studied at the Universities of Vienna and Freiberg. From 1904 to 1905 he was a research student in the McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases. He served for two years in the capacity of Pathologist at St. Luke's Hospital, until he came to the University in 1913, as Professor of Pathology and Bacteriology. He began serving as Acting Dean in April, 1925, and in September of the same year, he was made Dean of the College.

Last year was the Golden Anniversary of the College of Medicine. In 1883 the first class was graduated from the old college of Physicians and Surgeons organized in 1881 by a representative and forceful group of physicians in Chicago. It rapidly became one of the important colleges in the Central West having on its faculty such well known men as J. B. Murphy, D. A. K. Steele, A. J. Ochsner, Christian Fenger, Nicholas Senn, and Doctor Quine.

During the general reorganization of Medical Colleges that began in the nineties the College became affiliated with the University of Illinois and in 1913 became an integral part of it through the generous donation of the stock investment by the owners, most of whom were prominent doctors on the faculty.

Since that time, the standards of education and the entrance requirements have been raised from time to time. For many years now the number of applications for admission have greatly exceeded the capacity of the institution and the needs of the profession, in spite of the high requirements. A long waiting list has been created, made up of young men and women specially qualified by rigid premedical training and all with scholastic averages considerably better than those of the upper half of their college and university classes.

THE COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

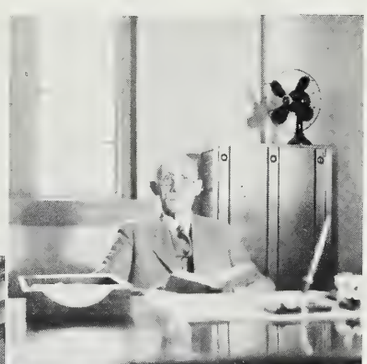

Dean William B. Day

The College of Pharmacy, the oldest Chicago department of the University, was founded in 1859 by a group of prominent pharmacists of Chicago who associated themselves together for scientific purposes and mutual improvement. The objects of the society were declared to be "cultivating, improving, and making known a knowledge of pharmacy, its collateral branches of science and the best modes of preparing medicines and giving instructions in the same by public lectures." Early activities of the College included the formulating of a code of ethics for pharmacies, the establishment of a pharmaceutical library and museum and the publication of the first pharmaceutical journal in the West. This journal, known as "The Pharmacist," was established in 1868 and its publication was continued for eighteen years. In the early days the College occupied leased quarters near the business center of Chicago, but in 1916 the University purchased for its use the property that it now occupies.

The chief aim of the College is to prepare young men and women for the practice of pharmacy as retail pharmacists or for positions in pharmaceutical laboratories. Its Alumni, now numbering over 3,500, are largely engaged in retail pharmacy, and not a few are practicing as pharmaceutical chemists, hospital pharmacists and manufacturing pharmacists.

William Baker Day, Dean of the College of Pharmacy, is entering on his forty-third year of service to the College and his thirty-ninth year in the University. He was born in Peru, Illinois, February 15, 1871. After being graduated from the Chicago College of Pharmacy in 1892 with a Ph. G. degree, he became an instructor in the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy. In 1898 he was made Professor of Histological Botany, and Professor of Botany and Materia Medica in 1913. The following year he became Acting Dean of the College, and served in this capacity until 1919, when he became Dean of the College of Pharmacy. In 1917 the honorary degree of Pharm. M. was bestowed upon him by the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

DIRECTOR ROBERT B. BROWNE

THE DIVISION OF UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

ROBERT BELL BROWNE, was appointed Acting Director of the Division of University Extension at the time of its inauguration in 1933. Last year he was made Director of this Division. He was born in Oshkosh, Wisconsin on July 15, 1894. He entered the University of Illinois, after graduation from the Southern Illinois State Teachers College, but his schooling was interrupted by Service in the United States army, and he was graduated with the class of 1922. For a number of years he was a high school principal and city school superintendent, and in 1929 returned to the University as an instructor in Education. He also received his degree of Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy at the University.

The Division of University Extension is one of the means by which the University expands the sphere of its influence. The Division makes possible the creation of a state-wide campus. It enables students whose circumstances prevent the pursuit of studies in residence to continue in a somewhat systematic fashion their efforts for self-improvement.

The Division administers courses that are taught by correspondence. This is a method of study whose usefulness and effectiveness had been demonstrated over a period of years, since it has been practiced at other colleges and universities for many years, and is a type of study that attracts a relatively high proportion of superior students. The reception of the University's correspondence offerings has been favorable and the work of the division is expanding steadily.

The Division was approved by the Board of Trustees, in October 1933, after a thorough consideration of the work by the University Senate Committee on Educational Policy. The extension service was started at this time to increase the University's educational service to the state. A large number of high school graduates, who because of economic conditions were unable to enter a college or university last fall, have had, through this extension service, the opportunity of continuing their education.

Dean Maria Leonard

THE OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF WOMEN

Ever since her student days Miss Leonard has been interested in the work of dean of women. She was born in Indianapolis, Indiana, and received her high school education there. After graduation from Butler College, she continued her graduate work in Colorado College from which institution she was graduated with the degree of Master of Arts in 1910. Miss Leonard was Dean of Women and Professor of Mathematics at Idaho State Normal, in Albion, Idaho, from 1910 to 1912. She left Idaho to become Dean of Women and Professor of Mathematics at Coe College, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where she served from 1912 to 1923. In 1923 she closed her career at Coe and came to the University as Dean of Women. In 1924 Miss Leonard founded the national scholastic honorary for freshmen women, Alpha Lambda Delta.

University life means more than "just going to school," reciting daily lessons, accumulating 130 credits for eight semesters.

These four years are the time for developing body, mind, and heart whereby each individual may reach his best self-realization by receiving enough intellectual momentum and stimulus to carry him on to finer, stronger achievements in life. To accomplish these things students must be happy in comfortable sanitary surroundings. To maintain these standards in the campus homes is one keen interest of the Dean's office. Also, in students' group life and in their play as well as their work their contacts must be strengthened for them. In the various campus interests the student often needs personal counsel as there is hardly a student need that does not find its way to the Dean's desk. This help the Dean of Women, Miss Maria Leonard, and her assistants, Miss Irene Pierson and Miss Lora Deere, seek to give through friendliness and service to the hundreds of students, parents and visitors to the office, who may call any hour of the school day to discuss with Dean Leonard and her assistants personal or group needs.

The Dean also directs some of the problems of employment for the Women on campus, making direct contact between employer and employee, and making certain that the girls forced to work have proper living quarters and will not have undue demands made upon their time. Living conditions for women are under her direction, and she personally inspects all houses in which non-sorority girls room. Her office has charge of Women's Residence Hall, West Residence Hall, Davenport House, and the co-operative houses.

THE OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF MEN

Fred Harold Turner, Dean of Men, was born at Hume, Illinois, on March 22, 1900. Upon graduation from the University of Illinois in 1922, he was made assistant to Thomas Arkle Clark, Dean of Men. In 1931, he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in education, and his thesis is considered one of the most authoritative accounts ever made of the Illinois Industrial University. In the same year he was made acting dean, and in 1932 he assumed the full title of Dean of Men. He is very active in student organizations about the campus and member of both the Illini Board of Control and the Illinois Union Board of Directors. In recent years several of Dean Turner's surveys of student life at the University have been published in current magazines.

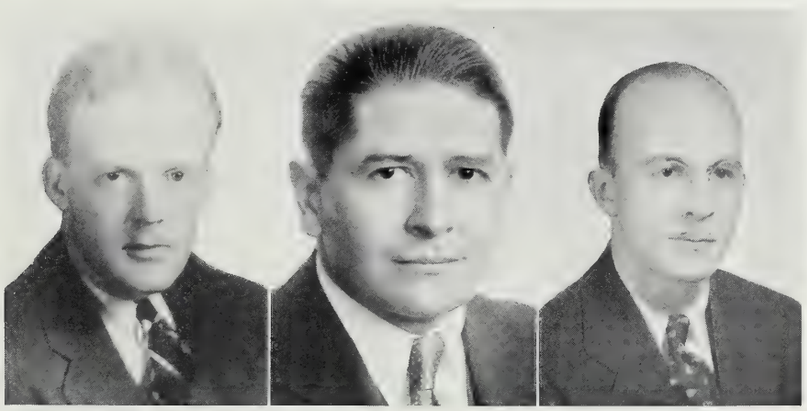

Dean Fred H. Turner

The Office of the Dean of Men is a service organization for the men of the University. It was created by the late Thomas Arkle Clark, the first Dean of Men of any university, in 1902, for the purpose of bringing about closer relations between the students and the University Authorities. At this time Dean Clark's title was Dean of Undergraduates, but in 1909 was changed to Dean of Men. Originally the function of the Dean was to act as an aid to the President in student affairs. Gradually, however, the functions of the office have widened and now include interests in every phase of undergraduate life.

The present staff is made up of the Dean of Men, Dr. Fred H. Turner, Mr. Charles R. Frederick, Assistant Dean of Men in Charge of Student Organizations and Activities, Mr. David M. Larrabee, Assistant to the Dean of Men for Freshmen and Foreign Students, and Mr. Dwight F. Bracken, Assistant Dean of Men and Director of the University Bureau of Employment.

The functions of these men are apparent from their titles. The office is organized and operated so that staff members are available at all times for men who need their assistance. A great many specific functions are handled in the office and in addition, the office serves as a clearing house for answering questions of undergraduate men, and to aid them to use their time most effectively and efficiently.

An employment bureau is maintained by the Office of the Dean of Men, under the direction of Assistant Dean Bracken, to advise and aid worthy students in getting part-time employment during the college year, and full-time employment during the summer. This bureau affords a central clearing point for all employment.

Frederick Bracken Larrabee

A toast to the Seniors, who through four years of accomplishments, have strengthened the activities of our University. . .

Familiar scenes, unforgettable events, fond memories--perhaps dimmed by the passage of time but lived again as we grow reminiscent. . . . . .

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

SEPTEMBER-OCTOBER

The return to campus and the sight of familiar faces and old friends—new faces, rushees, rushing; pledging, pledges, dates, dances; and then registration; the first class and a resolution not to cut. Weeks of strenuous football practice and then exciting football games. The Homecoming game with Ohio and Illibuck, the legend and symbol of victory, returned to the Illini after an absence of four years. The braves of Sachem gladly received the ancient tortoise. With homecoming came a famous son of Illini, Red Grange, 77, in whose honor one of the most successful homecomings of recent years was held. Spirits were high as Red greeted the pep meeting crowd at the bonfire on Friday night, and the same spirit carried the Illini to victory over Ohio the next day. Alums, Dads, Mothers, and friends were welcomed by decorations, festivities, and football. Delta Delta Delta and Phi Sigma Kappa were awarded first for their house decorations. The days flew and six weeks exams and term papers were due, but cares were forgotten in the whirl of house dances, alumni dances, and theatre productions. A more serious side of life was the engineering smoker, a social get-together for serious engineers. Two months had passed and November was at hand.

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

NOVEMBER-DECEMBER

Two months had passed and November was here. That great sport, football, was about to sing its swan song for the year of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-four. No one can forget that downpour of rain which threatened to ruin the students' welcome to their Dads, but even the rain and mud could not dampen the spirit of welcome of the band. Under the protection of the Auditorium, the Dads held their annual meeting. The Cavalry Club horse show was a success as even the horses seemed to extend a welcome. Axe-grinders—did you rate? All of the Illio staff seemed to have. But look again and you will see them all at work—when they aren't crowding to get in the eye of the camera. It's too bad the photographer couldn't get in the picture. December was a busy month. Santa made his visit to the children at the Christmas party given by the Illinois Union—do you suppose they all had been good? The Junior Prom held the social spotlight, and Florine Petri, Alpha Omicron Pi, was chosen Queen. Days passed as if on wings. Exams had been written and Thanksgiving with the first vacation with turkey and dressing and pumpkin pie had come and gone. Everyone was looking forward to Christmas.

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

JANUARY-FEBRUARY

Nineteen Hundred Thirty-five —a new year. Finals were in the near future and everyone suddenly turned to thoughts of books and study, but even exams lost to the Sophomore Cotillion, the first formal function of the class of Thirty-seven. The sports-minded turned to basketball, the sport of the hardwood, and crowds filled the New Gymnasium to watch a championship team. The woes of registration—did you get your study list checked and your fees assessed? The University Skating Rink became more popular and hockey, a real sport, began to capture attention—

the goalie seems to have been as well protected as the goal. The Student Senate held its regular meeting to discuss important campus problems. February—a busy month for the politicians and campaign managers—platforms, rallies, and then election day and the wait for the returns. After weeks of diligent practice the Woman's League Show was a great success if one took the opinion of the "intermissioners," and there was no doubt as to whether or not they were right. Bill Newton, Chief Illiniwek, danced for the last time. Who can remember a football game without the band and the Chief's war dance?

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

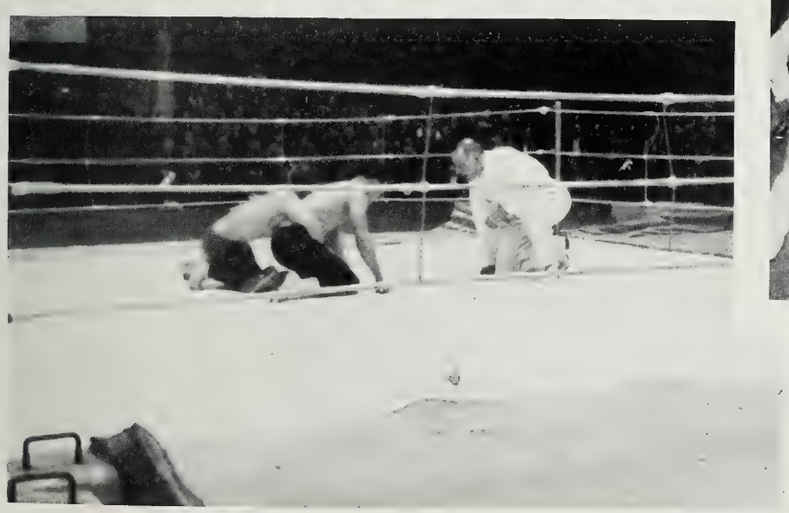

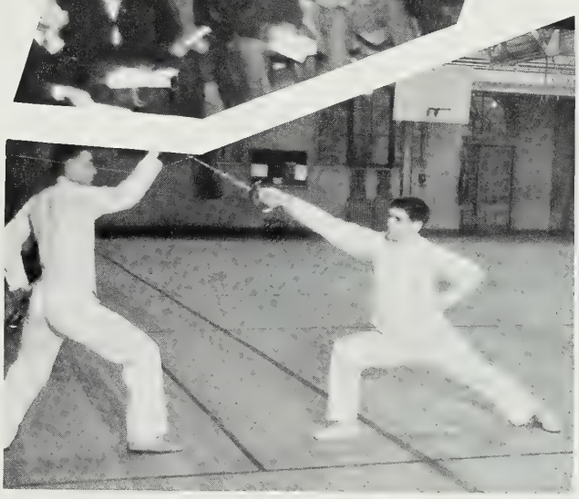

MARCH-APRIL

Crowded with the lion's share of events came March. Basketball faded into history and a stroll through the Armory made one conscious that track and baseball were soon to take the sportlight, but not entirely, for Coach Kenney's wrestlers seem to have attracted their share of attention as the crowds filled the Gym Annex to watch this rapidly growing intercollegiate sport. March was indeed a victor's month for the Illini athletes; the wrestling, fencing, and gym teams were crowned Big Ten champions, while the basketball team shared a three-way tie for the Conference championship. Spring was coming and as definite proof one saw the first appearance of white shoes, tennis, roller skates, and the first robin. Even the old Illinois Union Building kept pace with the season as the remodeling was completed and the campus activities moved into their new home. But to turn to more serious events, we found the Senate Committee on Student Affairs in session. Did they become generous and grant you a car permit? Social life was not forgotten—the Interfraternity dances, assured of popularity, and St. Pat's Ball, the engineers' own dance, held interest.

MAY-JUNE

For the seniors—the last two months of their college life, months filled with events which will never be forgotten. The campus greeted Mother on Mother's Day. The traditional crowning of the May Queen was held on the Auditorium steps and the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs gave their combined concert. Dorothy Nelson was crowned Queen of Agriculture at the Farmer's Ball. Wednesday evening and the open-air band concerts—Interscholastic week-end and Alpha Kappa Lambda, Beta Theta Pi, and Delta Chi were the winners of Sachem Sing.

Months of hard work and anxious waiting had passed. Activity men and women looked forward to the pledging of Torch and Sachem on the steps of the Auditorium; the seniors found Mortar Board resting on the Senior Bench while the Ma-Wan-Da men found their names on the Ma-Wan-Da Elm. The Senior Ball—the last social function of the class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-four. The Skating Rink was transformed into a gorgeous ballroom, crowded with dancers, and Ercilia Kiler, Pi Beta Phi, was chosen Queen. Then . . . Commencement Day, the end of four years, but only the beginning—may the events of the future be pleasant for the class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-five.

More popular than the sport of ancient Greeks are our modern athletics--marvels of brain and brawn; speed and spirit. . .

ATHLETICS

Development of the body is a frequently neglected yet very vital function of education. Athletics are the practical means of making possible the realization of this function. Even more important than this, however, is the spirit of fair play that is a fundamental part of the athletic system at Illinois. The Illini Code of Sportsmanship is an embodiment of the ideals and lives of the men who have formed it, and all true Illini are proud of it. . . . . .

AUTUMN ATTRACTS THE FOOTBALL CROWDS

Let us pay tribute to those whose able administration of athletic affairs has made Illinois a leader in sportsmanship and fair play. . . . . .

ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

GEORGE A. HUFF
Director of Athletics

By the voluntary retirement of our track coach, Harry Gill, and the sudden death of our baseball coach, Carl Lundgren, which was such a shock to us all, Illinois has lost two of the greatest coaches in the history of intercollegiate athletics.

Harry Gill had coached our track teams for thirty years during which they were outdoor champions of the Big Ten eleven times and indoor champions eight. They won 81 dual meets against conference opponents and lost 22, and won more meets from each conference rival than they lost. In the twelve years that Carl Lundgren coached Illinois baseball teams, they won 103 games and lost 42. They were four times Big Ten champions and tied for another championship.

Illinois has lost another valued member of the athletic staff, Milt Olander, former assistant football coach. We greatly regret his departure but rejoice that his ability has won him a fine opportunity in industry.

It is not possible to pay too great a tribute to these men, not only for their ability as coaches, but for their high qualities of personality, loyalty, and character.

Geo. Huff

Sportsmanship, "to play fairly and within the rules, to give the other fellow just the same chance you would like yourself, to win without boasting and lose without excuses," is the creed of the Director of Physical Welfare, George A. Huff. The Grand Old Man of Athletics and the spirit of true sportsmanship have come to stand as one throughout the midwest. Ever since 1889, Director Huff has put his whole heart into the betterment of athletics at the University of Illinois; first as a student, then as an assistant coach, head coach, and now as Director of Athletics and head of the School of Physical Education.

He entered a prep course in the University of Illinois in September, 1887, and went out for baseball—but his team never won a game. However, the following year the freshman team of which he was a member won the interclass championship. In 1890 he was made captain manager of his team, and by the end of his Illini career, he had become a campus hero.

In 1893 he went to Dartmouth, and as a freshman was made captain of the varsity baseball team. He returned to the Illinois campus in 1895 as coach of athletic teams and as assistant director of the gym. He was made chief director six years later. In 1924 he was made director of Physical Education and reached his present position as Director of the School of Physical Education in 1932.

His success at his Alma Mater has been almost phenomenal, placing Illinois as a leading school in the Big Ten Athletics. During his twenty-four years as baseball coach his teams won eleven conference championships. Great as has been his success in winning championships, his influence has been felt even more in his development of a fine spirit in athletics.

He has made Illinois one of the most consistent winners in the Big Ten conference; his influence has made it one of the best athletically equipped schools in the country; and above all he has brought to the University of Illinois an invaluable reputation for straight-forwardness and fair play.

CHEERLEADERS

WRIGHT, Senior Cheerleader

SMITH, Junior Cheerleader

The Illini Cheerleaders are chosen by the Athletic Council, not only upon the basis of ability to lead cheers but also upon their ability to handle a crowd in any situation that may arise, their knowledge of crowd psychology, and their ability to gain the attention of and to sway the conduct of thousands of emotional spectators.

The squad consists of a varsity senior cheerleader, two juniors, and a group of sophomores. They are present at all athletic events, conduct pep meetings and rallys, and in other ways attempt to foster the true Illini spirit. The varsity cheerleader travels with the football team as a messenger of good will to other schools.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Illinois has had greater, more powerful football teams than the 1934 team but none, in my time, that made so much of itself, considering its physical limitations.

Here was a team that in size and weight was at a disadvantage in every game it played with the exception of the Bradley contest. In such games as Ohio State the disparity was so marked that our boys seemed to be veritable pygmies. No finer stand was ever made by an Illinois team than when the Illini held the Buckeyes on our one-yard line.

There were few reserves of sufficient ability to relieve the regulars, who usually had to play to the finish. But they were "60-minute" players, barring accidents, and were able to do this. They had the gift, ability, quality, whatever it is, to give every ounce of energy—something that few teams, no matter how strong they are, possess.

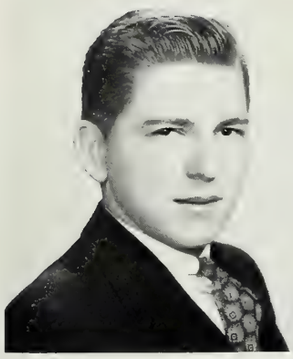

They did not have the power to push the other team off the field but made their ground by the flight of the ball, passing, and punting. The style of game they played was colorful and interesting to the crowds. They made a gallant challenge for a tie for the championship, losing only one game. By the percentage system of ranking, they were placed third because Ohio State happened to play one more conference game, but in reality they were just as much entitled to second place as the Buckeyes. All in all, they were a great group of boys, and it was a genuine pleasure to coach them.

ILLINOIS 14 — OHIO STATE 13

In what is regarded by many as the most brilliantly played contest of the season, Illinois defeated Ohio State by a narrow 14-13 margin in the first Conference game of the season, played in Memorial Stadium. The game was played under perfect weather conditions and before a crowd of 33,000 spectators participating in a most successful Homecoming in honor of Harold "Red" Grange, the "Galloping Ghost" of Illini teams in other years.

The first Illinois touchdown came early in the first quarter after an exchange of punts. Ohio State kicked off to Illinois. Jack Beynon passed to Frank Froschauer for a 20 yard gain, and Les Lindberg passed to Beynon for 30 yards. Another pass went awry, giving Ohio State the ball, but the Buckeyes lost it on a fumble on their own 33 yard line. Here the touchdown proceedings started. Lindberg, Theodore, and Froschauer carried the ball to the 16 yard line. Lindberg then threw a pass over the goal line to Beynon for the touchdown. Beynon held as Lindberg kicked the point after touchdown.

Illinois scored again late in the third quarter to take a 14-0 lead, but Ohio State then took the ball and made two touchdowns without losing possession of the ball for even one play. Captain Regis Monahan failed to kick the point after touchdown on the first, after a steady charge down the field. Illinois kicked off to Ohio State again, and the Buckeyes repeated the touchdown performance, this time, Monahan making the kick good for the final score. The last minutes of the game found the Illini in full control of the situation again with Ohio State on the defensive.

ILLINOIS 7—MICHIGAN 6

When Michigan invaded Memorial Stadium in the fall of 1933, it had a championship team, experienced, and was marching toward a second consecutive National championship. Illinois was a green team, composed chiefly of sophomores, yet it lost only by a narrow 7-6 margin after a long, hard battle.

Last fall, the situation was somewhat reversed. Michigan, riddled by graduation losses, had won no games while the Illini were undefeated. But Michigan rose to the situation, fought with a fury born of true spirit, and fell; but only by the same 7-6 margin that had a year before been in Michigan's favor. Illinois was the superior team, and although hindered by intermittant downpours and uncertain footing, earned the name of "Game Little Roosters." The lone Illinois touchdown was registered as the final drive in a 72 yard parade from the Illinois 28 yard line, while Michigan's six points were the result of the Wolverine's only advance past the Illini 30 yard line.

SAYRE, Center

Sadly outweighed, almost 20 pounds to the man, the Illinois team outcharged Michigan, and deserved the victory in every way. Illinois gained 172 yards from the line of scrimmage, while Michigan accumulated only 62; Illinois completed four of six passes, Michigan only one of six. Michigan had only a theoretical punting advantage, for Lindberg's kicks were longer and more accurate, but one was blocked and another hurried and poor. Illinois intercepted two Michigan passes, and was an alert and clever team rushing into every play with a cool clearness that proved too much for the Michigan eleven.

The victory was the first scored on Michigan soil since 1920, and the first in many years of Conference play.

ILLINOIS 7 — ARMY 0

Playing in a terrific downfall on a field heavy with mud, Illinois sloshed its way to a 7-0 victory over the Army eleven in Memorial Stadium to win the fifth consecutive game on the schedule and ring up a victory in one of the most important intersectional contests of the season. Billed as a struggle between two smart and speedy teams, the unfortunate weather conditions made impossible the fulfillment of advance predictions. The heavy ball rendered the famous Illini passing attack lame and failed to afford Army's Jack Buckler the proper footing for his standard long runs.

Crain Portman, Illini halfback, scored the lone touchdown of the game on a dash off left tackle from the Army 11 yard line late in the first quarter. Les Lindberg kicked the extra point, ending the scoring for the day, although each eleven had opportunities later which failed to materialize by narrow margins. Quarterback Beynon marshalled the Illinois team in flawless style, calling signals with a monotonous perfection. Although Army outrushed Illinois, and almost all the statistics favored the Cadets, Illinois impressed the 45,000 spectators as being the dominant eleven during the entire game.

Lindberg's punting was the outstanding factor in the victory, giving Illinois the offensive advantage despite the superior Army rushing. Center Al Sayre, usually dependable, was uncertain with his passes to the kicker because of the wet field, but Lindberg took the ball from any side or angle and booted it toward sideline harbors with uncanny accuracy. "Texas" Jack Buckler's longest run was a 32 yard dash around his right end, while each of their passes, 13 yards, were longer than any Illini pass, and were received by end Bill Schuler who played an excellent game for Army.

F I G H T I N G I L L I N I

One of the earlier moments in the Illinois-Army game, when uniforms were clean enough to tell this was a thrust by the Cadets, but there was too much rain to tell why or how. Shuler, Wolf, and Brearley are the discernable Cadets.

ILLINOIS 14 — NORTHWESTERN 3

With three of the most important games on the schedule already played and won, Coach Bob Zuppke's greatest job with his "game little rooster" team was to keep the athletes in proper physical form and mental edge. With something of a problem arising from this angle, the Fighting Illini invaded Dyche Stadium in Evanston and defeated Northwestern's Wildcats, 14-3.

Illinois was facing a team not so powerful man for man as Illinois, yet pitched to a high note for the annual homecoming contest before a near-capacity crowd. The final score was not an accurate story of the game, for Illinois was close to defeat on one occasion near the end of the game and not only trailed the Wildcats for a good portion of the contest, but also found itself sadly outplayed. The Illini did not appear as a team unbeaten and untied, and for that fact, Northwestern looked superior. However, when the time came to act, and to act promptly and without waste motion, the Illinois team was right in the struggle and proved its superiority.

Northwestern went on the field to start the game with a zest and fire that Illinois lacked, and midway in the first quarter the Wildcats stepped into a 3-0 lead with a field goal kicked by Guard Joe Chambers from the Illinois 10 yard line. The rest between halves must have been a tonic for the Illini, however, for they came back in the second half and scored two touchdowns while holding Northwestern scoreless. Ken Nelson paved the way for the first touchdown by blocking one of Steve Toth's punts, just as he blocked Buckler's punt in the Army game, while the second came as the result of a 75 yard drive, 69 of which were gained by Lindberg on a run through center.

Ohio State tries a trick passing play behind the line of scrimmage. Even the camera missed the ball, although Fischer and Gryboski seemed to know where it was going. Monahan of the Buckeyes is in the foreground.

HENRY, Quarterback

ILLINOIS 3 — WISCONSIN 7

Illinois' hopes for a championship and a perfect record for the season went awry at Madison when Wisconsin, recognized as an inferior eleven, outcharged and outsmarted Illinois, capitalized on Illinois errors, and won a 7-3 victory. The Illini were at their lowest playing standard of the season, for Wisconsin was probably the weakest Conference team faced and had only an enthusiastic spirit of Homecoming week-end to raise them to a better playing level.

The victory was earned by Wisconsin, although to Illinois, under the circumstances, it was a stinging humiliation. Wisconsin scored on an unusual play, but that did not detract from the credit granted them for the victory, since the Illini on that day lacked the two essentials which had carried them to victory over heavier and better rivals, that of keenness of football instinct and mental alertness.

Wisconsin scored a touchdown after three minutes had elapsed in the second quarter. Lindberg was throwing a pass from his own 36 yard line when the Badger line charged in and partially deflected the ball as it left the passer's hand. Allen Mahnke, center for the Badgers, caught the ball in mid-air and ran the distance to the Illini goal line without any interference or serious pursuit. Guard Mario Pacetti kicked the extra point after touchdown.

The most concentrated Illini drive fell short of a touchdown, but resulted in a field goal which gave the Illini their sole three points. Nelson recovered a Wisconsin fumble on the Badger 13 yard line, mid-way in the third quarter. Two line plays gained six yards, and a pass over the goal line was incomplete. On the fourth down, Lindberg kicked the field goal with Beynon holding.

Right: The left side of the Illinois line goes into action, Dahl taking Jones out of play as the Buckeyes make an effort to hold.

Across: Theodore watches expectantly while Dykstra crashes the Buckeye line to see what is to be done. Harre has tied up a happily unidentified Illini.

ILLINOIS 6 — CHICAGO 0

Although championship hopes were gone, Illinois' 1934 edition of the Fighting Illini went into the last game of the season intent upon ending the season as they had started it, victoriously. Chicago with sensational Jay Berwanger was the rival, and the Illini not only checked the running star, but baffled Chicago to win a 6-0 victory with an efficient and business-like manner befitting a team which had played brilliantly during the course of the season. The eleven taking the field against Chicago was different from that which started the majority of Conference games during the season; Coach Zuppke was seeking to shake off the lethargy which had pervaded and dominated the Illinois team in the Northwestern and Wisconsin encounters.

WRIGHT, End

CANTWELL, End

Chuck Galbreath climaxed a brilliant game at right tackle during the entire season by scoring the touchdown for Illinois on an unusual play. Early in the first quarter, with the ball on the Chicago five yard line, Beynon passed to sophomore end Ben Cantwell, but Captain Eli Patterson of the Maroons got in the way, and the ball was deflected off his chest and into Galbreath's arms. Galbreath promptly stepped forward and fell over the goal line for the score. Lindberg then failed the first time in the six games to convert the point after touchdown. The 6-0 margin, however, proved enough for victory.

Illinois baffled the Chicago team and most of the capacity crowd of spectators by starting the second half with an on-side kick-off, making the ball a free one, eligible to either team. End Bill Waller fell on the oval on the Chicago 35 yard line, but an Illini fumble offset the advantage gained. Chicago, with possession of the ball, was unable to penetrate the Illini defense, and the trick Chicago formations used were completely covered on every play.

BASKETBALL

RUBY, Coach

FROSCHAUER, Captain

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Basketball in the "Big Ten" Conference provides as keen competition as is to be found in any conference or league in all sport in the United States. Any conference team is a possible victor over any other in any single game. The breaks of eligibility, illness, officiating, and home floor determine many games. The scouting of opponents tends to even this competition as well. For a school to win consistently it must have better man power than the opponents.

The history of Illinois basketball brings out three paramount characteristics. The first of these characteristics is that Illinois seldom is represented by a poor basketball team. For even longer than the thirteen years the writer has been at Illinois, only one team, that of 1928, has won less than one-half its conference games. Only one other university in the Western Conference, Purdue, can boast of such a consistent record.

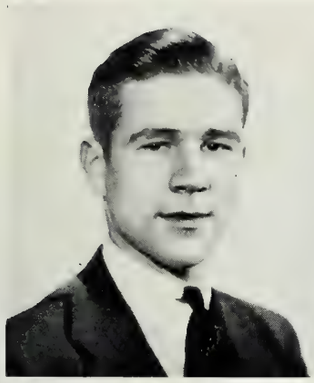

The second outstanding characteristic of Illinois basketball history lies in the fact that Illinois, more than any other conference team, has executed "upsets in dope." The third characteristic of Illinois basketball history lies in the spirit and sportsmanship of Illinois basketball spectators. Every opposing player and coach will say that Illinois is difficult to defeat on its home floor because the crowd, largely made up of students, makes the team play "over its head." At the same time persons will say that the Illinois crowds display better sportsmanship than those of any other conference institution.

The finest Illinois basketball team in history, the 1934-35 Illini cagers, won nine games and lost only three to tie for the Western Conference title with Purdue and Wisconsin, each team having similar records for the season. Captain Frank Froschauer was the outstanding man on the Illinois team, as he led the scoring with 108 points to rank fifth in the Conference point standings and played a brilliant offensive game at his forward position. In his first year on the team Froschauer had been the individual star, but last season he sacrificed his chances for a more glamorous record by lending himself towards team cooperation.

Indiana won two games from Illinois when the Hoosiers were at their early season peak, and Purdue won the home engagment at Lafayette. The most brilliant Illinois victory of the season was scored against Purdue when the Boilermakers invaded the new gym. Illinois won a one-point, 37-36 victory, the fifth consecutive home triumph over the annually powerful Purdue five. Illinois had no further difficulty, winning the rest of the home games by large scores and wide margins. The Conference race was a close one from start to finish, the ultimate winners being in doubt until the final games were played, which made the season one of the most exciting in years.

With three sophomores in the lineup to support a nucleus of two seniors, the Illini team was slow in starting and appeared ragged and slow in passwork. As the season progressed, however, the Illini showed marked improvement in every game, and when the last games were being played, they were without a superior in the Conference. Roy Guttschow paired at forward with Froschauer to make a senior combination, and Robert Riegel, Wilbur Henry, and Harry Combes were the three regular sophomores, Riegel at center, Henry and Combes at guard positions. Riegel scored 99 points during the season, placing sixth in the Conference behind Froschauer, while every other man was well up in the point standings.

The veteran Jack Beynon was forced out of the regular lineup by the sophomores with more scoring power, but his defensive skill made him an invaluable asset to the team. Other players who performed during the year in reserve capacity were Culver Mills, Grant Mickelson, Bill Gibbs, Howard Braun, Harold Benham, Pick Dehner, Jim Vopicka, Hale Swanson, and Byron Blout. Because of the fact that no junior man was a regular on the team and since it is not customary to elect a sophomore captain, the 1935-36 team will have a captain selected before each game, and an honorary captain will be elected at the close of the season.

VARSITY TRACK

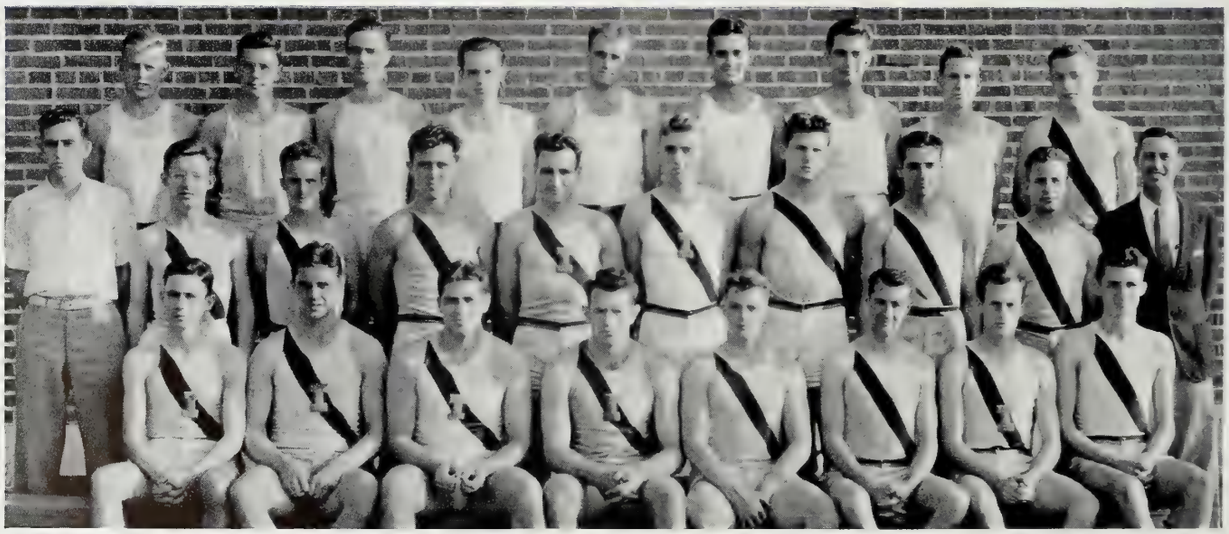

Track is a great tradition at Illinois. Our athletic history is studded with the achievements of many outstanding teams and individual performers who have carried the Orange and Blue to the front from coast to coast.

It is no easy standard for the Illini track men of today to attempt to match, but the achievements of the teams of the past under the great coach, Harry Gill, and his assistant, Chic Werner, are a constant inspiration. Most of the sterling athletes whose talents brought the outdoor track championship of the Big Ten to Illinois last June have passed off the collegiate scene and their absence is keenly felt.

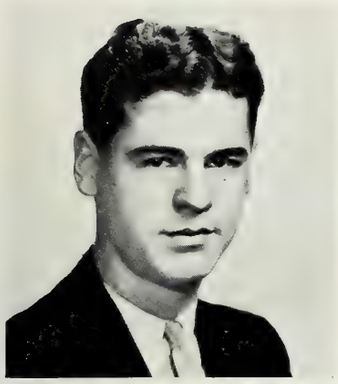

This season we have had to look to a small nucleus of experienced men, such as Captain Irving Seely, pole vault; Jack Dufresne, distance runs; Verne Eckert, dashes and 440 yards; and "Red" Baughman, middle distances; supplemented by newer contenders who will eventually be heard from but who require seasoning. It is patently out of the question for the 1935 team to retain the championship laurels which were won last year but the University may count on the members of the team giving their best in the final meets of the season.

RUSSELL, Dashes

KAMM, Shot-put

COOK, Shot-put

Showing the results of some remarkable coaching by Don Cash Seaton, who was serving his first season at Illinois, the 1934 Orange and Blue track team won the Western Conference outdoor championship with the amazingly low team total of 45 points to successfully climax a season of mediocrity. Three Illini seniors carried off a large share of glory for the season; Co-Captains David Cook and Albert "Chin" Kamm starring in the shot-put and Hunter Russell in the sprint events.

Cook established a new Illinois shot-put record with a toss of 50 feet, 3½ inches, and set a new home record in Memorial Stadium with a throw of 49 feet, 2 inches. Kamm, who usually ran a close second to his teammate, finished the season by defeating Cook in the Conference meet to win first place with a toss of 49 feet, 11 inches. Cook was second, failing by several inches to equal the winning mark.

Sprinter Hunter Russell was the third Illinois star, running in the 100 yard dash in the speedy time of 9.7 seconds twice, first in the preliminaries of the Drake Relays and again in the dual meet with Michigan at Ann Arbor. He also won the Steve Farrell trophy, awarded annually to the winner of the 100 yard dash in the Conference meet by the University of Michigan in honor of their late track coach and teacher.

Complete or near complete Illinois teams were entered in five meets, while several members of the squad were entered in the post-season National Intercollegiate Meet at Los Angeles, California. The team as a body participated in the Kansas Relays, the Drake Relays, in dual meets with Michigan and Purdue, and in the Conference meet. Illinois won the Purdue meet in Memorial Stadium. 69½ to 56½, won the Conference meet, and lost to Michigan, 73 to 53.

The Kansas Relays, the first intercollegiate event of the year, found the Illinois 440 yard relay team winning first place. Hunter Russell, Robert Carroll, Crain Portman, and Hudson Hellmich ran in the order named. The half mile relay team was fourth. In the individual performances, Co-Captain Cook was third in the shot-put and Co-Captain Kamm fourth in the discus, giving Illinois a total of 12 points. In the Drake Relays the Illini team earned a total of 16.5 points as Seely tied for first place in the pole vault, Cook took third place in the shot-put, and the 440 and 880 yard relay teams won second and third respectively.

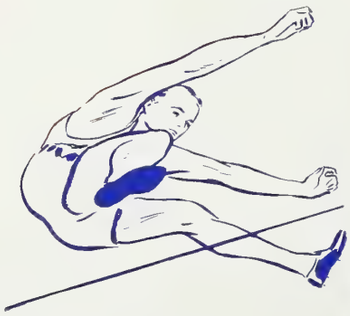

Although Illinois lost to Michigan at Ann Arbor, five Illini athletes were outstanding. Dave Cook established a new Ferry Field and Illinois shot-put mark with his throw of 50 feet, 3½ inches. Marsh Miller raced to his fastest victory in the 440 yard race, covering the distance in 48.6 seconds; Jack Dufresne won the first race of his career in the 2 mile run; Russell sprinted the 100 yard dash in 9.7 seconds, and Joe Schoeninger forced Ward to a brilliant 14.7 seconds in the 120 yard high hurdles before relinquishing first place in that event. Verne Eckert won the 220 yard dash and Kamm won the discus throw to complete the Illini list of victories, six in all compared to seven for Michigan.

Points were more plentiful in the Purdue meet, two records being broken as an added feature. Duane Purvis of Purdue smashed the Illinois record in the javelin with a toss of 199 feet, 3 inches, surpassing the old mark by 2 feet, 6 inches, while Cook broke the old Illinois mark in the shot-put, throwing the iron ball 49 feet, 2 inches.

On the basis of past performances, Michigan and Indiana were scheduled to stage a two-way struggle for the Conference championship. Illinois was given a chance to finish third or fourth, pressed by Northwestern or Ohio State. However, when the preliminaries had been concluded, Illinois had qualified 16 men for the finals the next day, eight more than its nearest rival, Michigan. Indiana had only seven men in the finals, changing the entire complexion of the meet. The number of men qualified by Illinois had a direct bearing on the final outcome, for it was by numbers rather than individual victories that the Illini defeated its supposedly superior rivals.

Illinois, by having three men place in each of the final dash events, gained 20 points to start the meet finals. Russell won the 100 yard dash, Hellmich following Russell to finish fourth. Portman picked up one point by earning a fifth place in the 220 yard low hurdles, Kamm another point with a fifth place in the discus throw. Seely won second place in the pole vault, and Adams equalled that feat with a second place in the broad jump. Van Meter earned a third place in the javelin throw for another three points, and then the Illini co-captains finished one-two in the shot put to earn nine more points. The mile relay team capped off the scoring with another point for fifth place.

In the National meet Hunter Russell tied with Keith Parsons of Southern California for second place in the 100 yard dash, both men trailing Ralph Metcalf. Russell was picked third, but motion pictures showed him to be tied with the Trojan ace. Captain-elect Irving Seely was the only other Illinois athlete to score, leaping 13 feet, 6 inches for a third place in the pole vault.

DUFRESNE, Cross-Country

The Illinois Varsity cross-country team found no Western Conference meet scheduled for the past season, and therefore was unable to defend the title won in the 1933 season. Riddled by graduation losses, in the races held the Illini managed only to tie in a dual meet with Butler while losing to Wisconsin. In the Butler meet, held over the Varsity three and one-half course, the teams deadlocked at 28-28, while the Badgers, running on their own four mile course, defeated the Illini 22-37.

Captain Jack Dufresne was the leading performer for the Illinois team, winning first place in the four mile race at Madison and running second to the stellar Howard Sears of Butler over the Illini course. The lack of men to fill the gap between first place and the first five was reason enough for the downfall of the championship Illini team. As a rule, the Illini found themselves bunched across the finish line fifth, sixth, and seventh, leaving the top positions to rival runners. Lynn "Red" Baughman was the most consistent runner after Dufresne, placing sixth in both meets.

BAUGHMAN, Cross-Country

Dufresne won the Wisconsin race in 20:40.7 and was followed across the finish line by four Wisconsin runners, each about eleven seconds apart. Baughman and Meis ran six and seven for Illinois, and Wisconsin's runners followed eight, nine, and ten. Since under the National Collegiate rules the first five men only are counted in the point standings, Wisconsin was charged with second, third, fourth, fifth, and eighth, giving them 22 points. Talbot came in eleventh and Lowe twelfth for Illinois, giving the Illini a team total of 37.

In the Butler meet, Sears finished first, followed by Dufresne, and Butler runners came in third and fourth. Buswell finished fifth, Baughman sixth, Lowe seventh, and Meis eighth, and they being the first five Illini runners to cross the line, gave Illinois a team total of 28. Butler, with first, third, and fourth already having finished, took ninth and eleventh, equalling the Illinois team total, deadlocking the meet.

Depending almost entirely upon untried material, Coach Don Seaton's Illini indoor track team went through its schedule without a victory in three dual meets and placed fifth in the annual Conference meet to conclude a poor season. Riddled by graduation losses and several damaging ineligibilities, the team remained without any outstanding stars, scoring its points chiefly by virtue of second and third places rather than by victories in the several events. Two dual meets were held in the Armory, one with Ohio State, the other with Notre Dame, and a third meet was held with Indiana at Bloomington.

The first Conference dual meet resulted in a 68-36 victory for Ohio State, led by the sensational Buckeye sophomore star, Jesse Owens. Owens won four events, the 60 yard dash, the 70 yard low and high hurdles, and the broad jump, setting two new marks. Illini runners managed only to win two events, Jack Dufresne leading the field in the two mile run and Lynn Baughman leading the 880 yard runners. Dufresne was also third in the mile run. Crain Portman, by virtue of second places in both the 60 yard dash and 70 yard low hurdles tied Dufresne for high point honors for Illinois, each man scoring six points.

Illinois showed to better advantage in the second dual meet, although losing to Indiana, 58-46. Four Illini won their events, one tying for first place. Captain Irving Seely won the pole vault, Verne Eckert the 440 yard dash, Bart Cummings the shot put, Fred Wheling the broad jump, and Charles Pollensky tied for first in the high jump. Dufresne and Baughman won second places in the two mile run and 880 yard run, respectively.

Right: Hunter Russell receives the Steve Farrell memorial trophy from Dean Fletcher. The award goes to the winner of the 100 yard dash in the annual Conference meet.

Across: It appears as if Crain Portman of Illinois has won this race, but Owens, with a last leap, forged ahead and broke the tape.

Illinois suffered its worst defeat against Notre Dame in the last dual meet of the season as the Irish trackmen scored a 71½ to 32½ victory. Illinois won only one event and tied for first in another, the Irish apparently having won the meet with little trouble, for the first Notre Dame victory over Illinois in 31 years. Jack Dufresne was the lone Illinois winner, again being victorious in the two mile run, while Captain Seely tied for first place in the pole vault. Captain Vincent Murphy of Notre Dame broke the Armory high jump record with a vault of 6 feet, 7 inches.

BARTH, Relay

CULLINAN, Hurdles

Placing fifth in the Conference meet, the Illinois team trailed Michigan, the winner, Ohio State, Wisconsin, and Iowa. Captain Irving Seely was the only Illini athlete to win an individual title when he leaped 13 feet, 4 inches in the pole vault to defeat his nearest rival by 4 inches. No Illini runner took second place, and only two men were able to place third; Eckert in the 440 yard dash and Pollensky in the high jump, Pollensky sharing that honor with two others. Al Mitizia tied for fifth place with three other pole vaulters, and the Illini scoring was concluded with a fourth place in the mile relay. Disappointing was the failure of Dufresne and Baughman to score in their specialty events.

Several sophomores distinguished themselves during the season; Pollensky in the high jump, Mitizia in the pole vault, and Duane Cullinan in the hurdles. Fred Wheling, a junior with no experience, proved a point winner in the broad jump by defeating the veteran members of the team in that event. Pollensky's best jump was 6 feet, 3 inches against Ohio State, while Mitizia scored a surprise with his excellent pole vaulting when he leaped 12 feet, 6 inches for a place in the Conference meet. Cullinan scored in the hurdles in every dual meet, although he was forced out of the point column when he faced more experienced competition in the Conference Meet.

VARSITY BASEBALL

It was with a feeling of happiness that I received and accepted Mr. Huff's offer to become baseball coach at the University—I am glad to be back at Illinois. My only regret is that the opportunity was occasioned by the untimely death of Carl Lundgren, who was held in such high esteem by us all. I can not begin to say enough for Lundy. Certainly, I consider it a great honor to be asked to succeed him, and as I start on my new job here it shall be my hope and ambition to try to continue to give to Illinois the fine baseball it has known and enjoyed through the years under Mr. Lundgren and Mr. Huff.

For the coming season there will again be available many of the members of last year's championship team. Unfortunately, the battery men, the pitchers and catchers, are gone. This means, in baseball terms, that about one half of the "back-bone" of the team will have to be replaced. Fortunately there are some likely-looking replacements among both the holdovers and the new men for these vital positions. Also there are other new men who will be pushing some of the regulars of last year's team. On the whole, competition for positions should be keen; and, barring misfortune in studies and accidents, prospects for a representative team must be considered good.

Carl Leonard Lundgren

Baseball Coach, 1920-1934

February 15, 1880---August 21, 1934

Carl Leonard Lundgren, Professor of Physical Education, Assistant Director of the School of Physical Education, and Varsity Baseball coach, died August 21, 1934. He graduated from this University in 1902, with a B.S. degree in Engineering. His excellent work on the college baseball team as pitcher helped bring two championships and he was elected both Captain of the team, and President of the Senior class.

After leaving school he played with the Chicago National League, the "Cubs," as pitcher for seven years, during which time they won two world championships and he was ranked as one of the three best pitchers in the country. His coaching career began at Princeton as freshman coach, later he went to the University of Michigan as Varsity coach in 1914, and finally he became head coach at Illinois in 1920. During the twelve seasons he won four championships for the Illini and tied another.

In Carl Lundgren the University has lost one of its foremost teachers, and all who knew him have lost a friend.

The team was captained by Fred Frink, who served his third ern Conference championship in a manner which proved a fitting tribute to the skill and leadership ability of its coach, the late Carl Lundgren. Serving in his fourteenth year as coach of the Illini nine, Carl Lundgren brought his fifth Conference title to the campus, and maintained a reputation he had earned by virtue of keeping his baseball team in the upper ranks of the Conference every season.

Winning nine of ten Conference games, losing only to Michigan at Ann Arbor, the Illini were far ahead of all rivals in percentage ratings. The complete record of the season, including games with non-Conference rivals, was 15 victories against three defeats, two non-Conference defeats being registered in the first series of the season.

The team was captained by Fred Frink, who served his third year on the team as a regular performer, alternating at first base and in the outfield. Frink was an eager leader, and his spirit both on and off the playing field was a dominant factor in the success of the Illini team.

By the time the opening Conference encounter had rolled around, Illinois had captured four non-Conference games with an effective pitching offering and timely batting. Bradley and Illinois Wesleyan were the rivals, each on a home-and-home basis, and they proved not too difficult. By the time the games had been played, Coach Lundgren was in a better position to choose his first team lineup, as he had used various combinations with that purpose in mind.

An exciting garrison finish marked the first important game of the year, that a home Conference contest with the Buckeyes of Ohio State. The Illini nine was coasting along on what seemed to be a comfortable 3-1 lead, when in the ninth inning Ohio State drove hurler Clifford Carlson from the mound and scored five runs. It was then that Illinois first showed its power, scoring four runs in the last half of the inning to emerge victorious, 7-6. With that wild burst of scoring strength, the Illini seemed to gain confidence, coasting through three consecutive victories, defeating Wisconsin, 5-1, Purdue, 15-3, and Northwestern, 6-3. The victory over the Boilermakers gave Illinois an undisputed lead in the Conference standings at that stage of the season, for before that contest, each team was undefeated. Illinois never lost this lead.

With a perfect Conference record of four victories and no defeats the Illini next faced Michigan and were unable to solve the pitching offerings of Francis "Whitey" Wistert, Wolverine ace. The Illini were able to connect safely only three times, producing a lone run. Michigan reached Al Masek more frequently, and won, 4-1. Still in the Conference lead by virtue of having played and won two more games than Purdue, the nearest rival, Illinois went into the final half of the season with less confidence, but a greater air of determination.

Chicago's Maroons were the first to suffer the strength of the Illini, for playing on the Midway, the Illini cracked out a decisive 7-4 victory. Playing in a true professional style, the Wisconsin Badgers and Illinois gave a brilliant exhibition of defensive skill in the encounter following, Illinois again winning, this time by a 4-2 score. Purdue was given a further shove down the list by suffering an 8-0 shutout defeat at the hands of Carlson.

The climax of the season was the Interscholastic game with Michigan in Illinois field. The Wolverines, intent upon repeating their first victory, jumped into an early 5-2 lead. Illinois began to hit Wister's offerings in the seventh inning, scoring three runs to tie the score, and went into the lead in the next inning with another run. Michigan, however, scored again in the ninth inning, and when the Illini came to bat in the last half of the inning, the score was a 6-6 deadlock. The first two batters were retired, and then John Duffner clouted a home run far over the left field fence, winning the game, 7-6.

OTHER VARSITY SPORTS

ANDREWS, Captain

VARSITY WRESTLING

The Varsity Wrestling Team, champions or runners-up in the Western Conference with consistency is another Illini team with an overwhelming victory percentage. The Illinois and Indiana teams have dominated Big Ten and middle-west wrestling despite the rapidly increasing interest in the sport, as evidenced by larger attendance at conference meets. Although they lost to Indiana in the final dual meet of the 1934-35 season, the Illini wrestlers won four individual titles while Indiana won none, and Illinois was crowned Conference champions.

The Illini team as a unit was stronger during the past season than any team within the past few years, although it lacked any outstanding stars. Two sophomores, one junior, and one senior won Conference titles, while several others placed in the final events. Conference champion at 118 pounds in his sophomore year, Pete Pakutinsky won the 126 pound title last season to be the lone Illini repeater. Co-captain Andrew Dahl won the heavyweight crown, and sophomores Jack McIlvoy and Ralph Silverstein won titles, McIlvoy in the 145 pound class and Silverstein at 175 pounds.

Co-Captain Charles Andrews, after a brilliant dual meet record, was forced to accept a second place in the conference meet, while the other three members, George Ledbetter, 118 pounds, Kenneth Carpenter, 135 pounds and Abe Citron, 155 pounds, were eliminated earlier. Ledbetter, Andrews, and Dahl are seniors who will be lost to the team next year.

VARSITY SWIMMING

Another Illinois Varsity Team with an overwhelming victory percentage to aid in making the 1934-35 season a banner one for Illinois other Varsity sports was Coach Ed Manley's swimming team. The tankmen, most of them veterans with excellent records in their first years of competition, put forth a well-balanced squad, and lost only one Conference dual meet, that to Iowa, and placed second in the Conference meet which was won by Michigan.

The Illini had the finest aggregation of free-style dash stars ever assembled on one team at the University, led by Captain Charles Flachmann, Conference and National champion. Flachmann was the outstanding performer in the Conference, leading the field in dash events, and as anchor man on the 440 yard relay team was instrumental in the establishment of a new relay record for the Conference in one of the first meets of the season and in the Conference meet in the New Gym pool.

Henry Hansen was a runner-up to Flachmann in the 100 yard dash, and a valuable member of the relay team. Jim Hickey was the third member of the relay team and "Butch" Overman, the fourth. Hickey was outstanding as an individual performer in the 440 yard swim and 220 yard dash, while in addition to sprinting and the 440 yard relay team, Overman participated in the medley events.

In the shorter 50 yard dash, the Illini were well represented by Frank Dalrymple and Frank Crosby, and in the back stroke by Eric Larson, all consistent point gainers. "Dutch" Van Tuin was the first ranking breast stroke artist, and never failed to earn points in that event.

VARSITY FENCING

A delegation of Illini athletes with a near monopolistic championship record is the Varsity fencing team, winners of the Western Conference championship in six of the past seven years of competition. Coached by Herbert Craig '28, the teams in the past seven years have always been high in quality but weak in quantity. In winning the Conference championship for the 1935 season, the team proved an exception to the rule, having 14 performers on the roster, five engaged in foils, six in epee, and three in sabre matches.

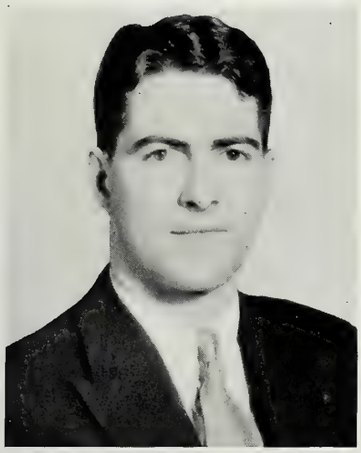

William Chiprin, a sophomore, was the lone Illini performer to win an individual title in the 1935 championship meet held in the Old Gym, that in the foils division. Captain Sylvester Hartz and Owen Reamer were second place winners. Hartz in sabres and Reamer in epee, and added enough points to give the Illini the title.

Hy Kaplan, Les Silverman, Fred Fredrickson, and Martin Fishback composed the foils division along with Chiprin, all returning for at least one more year of competition. The quintet maintained a fine pace throughout the season, and all were consistent point winners. Reamer and Bepko were the outstanding epee men, supplimented by Adrian Oleck, John Boland, James Jackson, and Edwin Johnston. Hartz was aided in the sabres division by Orville Lucier and Milford Benham. Hartz, Reamer, and Benham were the lone graduates, insuring Coach Craig of a continuance of the fine record of his championship team.

VARSITY SOCCER

Playing a seven game schedule in its third year as a self-supporting unit of the University athletic program, the Illinois soccer team won five games and lost two in the course of the 1935 season. The Illini eleven won two victories each over Morton Junior College of Chicago and Johnston City, and defeated the Wooster College eleven of Wooster, Ohio. Oberlin College of Oberlin, Ohio, and the University of Wisconsin teams defeated Illinois, the latter in the lone Western Conference game of the season.

The Varsity booters had a new coach for the season in King J. McCristal, who replaced the veteran Hartley Price when Price decided to devote all his coaching time to the training of gymnasts in an effort to further interest in that sport on the Illinois campus. McCristal, for several years a member of the physical education department, was well fitted for the post, and having had contact with the team for some time did not suffer from the novelty of the position.

In playing Johnston City the first of a series in Champaign, the soccermen inaugurated a plan of playing night games under the football practice field arc lights east of the Stadium. The soccermen and spectators found the circumstances favorable, and further play under the lights is expected to be a regular feature of the booters in future contests. By holding games at night, not only is the crowd of spectators increased, but interest in the game is keener and enthusiasm greater.

VARSITY GYMNASTICS

For the first time in several years the Varsity gymnasts rose above the team level of mediocrity and swept into the higher strata enjoyed by more successful gymnastic combinations in the Western Conference when Coach Hartley Price, now devoting all his coaching time to gymnastics, succeeded in finding enough good material to enter capable men in every event in the scheduled programs.

Thirteen men comprised the bulk of the competing talent, several of them excelling in more than one event. However, with enough men to go around, the few versatile stars were not overburdened by being entered in too many contests. The team was led by Captain Leonard Wayman, who in his third season was an outstanding performer in the side-horse and parallel bars, two of the five events which comprise the complete gym program.

The return to eligibility of Joseph Rehor gave the team an added boost towards success, as Rehor is recognized to be one of the leading all-around men in the Conference. In Arthur Fisher, tumbler, the Illini team had a performer who achieved success in stunts never before attempted by an athlete performing for the Illini. Alfred Jennings was a top man in the flying rings event, one in which he had specialized in the past. The thirteen men, in close intra-camp competition, decidedly improved the Illini team and led toward creating a new interest in the sport.

VARSITY WATER POLO

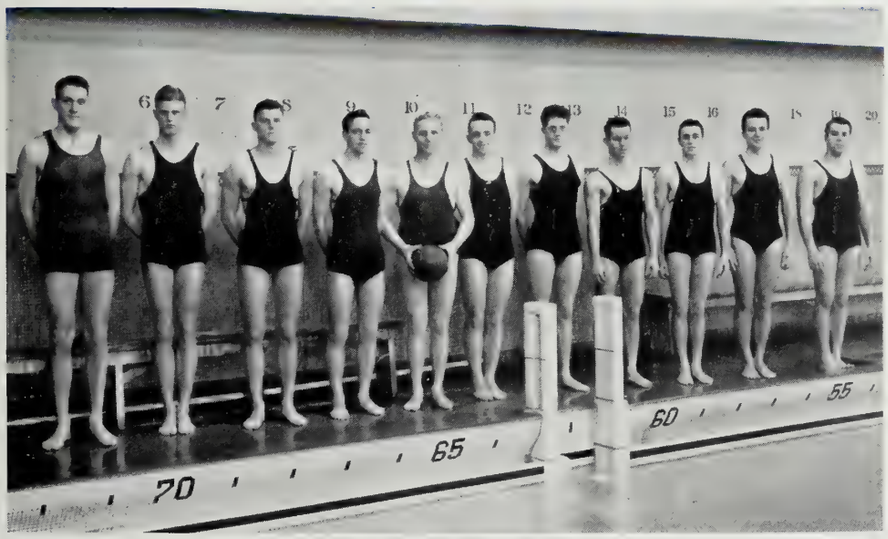

The brilliant Illinois Varsity Swimming Team proved its versatility by turning into a winning Varsity Water Polo Team after each swimming meet and by defeating Minnesota, Wisconsin, Chicago, and Iowa, earned itself a reputation as one of the leading contenders in the Western Conference.

Each man of the seven on the team was a finished swimmer and an equally finished player; the team as a result was a smoothly efficient unit, speedy on the offensive and staunch on defensive play. The front wall for the Illinois team was composed of three of the fastest sprint stars in the Conference, Charles Flachmann, Frank Crosby, and Henry Hansen.

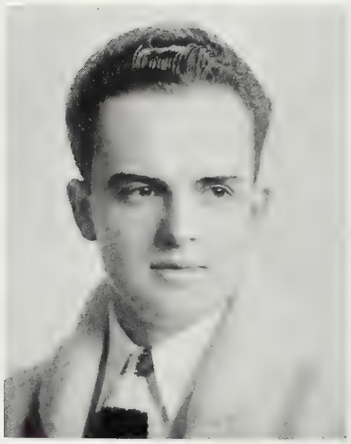

The secondary defense was impregnable, consisting of Captain Dutch Van Tuin, Frank Dalrymple, and Jim Starrett. Van Tuin, a husky breast stroke star, played a real game at guard. He not only directed plays from his position in rear of the forward wall, but worked the ball down the tank to start plays.

The Illini were without equal in the goalie's net. Guarded by a giant swimmer, extraordinary Foster Bennett, the Illini nets were well protected against rival sharpshooters. The center tip-off play found the ball going to Illinois most of the time. Flachmann, the fastest swimmer in the Western Conference, and Hansen, a close rival, alternated at the center position and managed to gain control of the ball to start plays properly and keep rival teams from getting the ball too often, placing opponents on the defensive most of the playing time.

VARSITY POLO

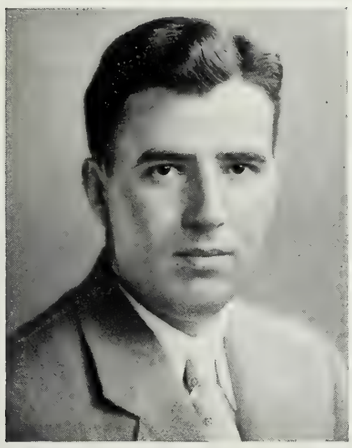

Polo, the youngest sport in the Illinois varsity family, showed marked signs of maturity in the 1934-35 season, as it displayed a greater ability than either of its predecessors by earning a tie with Chicago for a share in the Conference indoor title. Possessing the polish, balance, and poise of well-developed teams, the Illini proved to be aggressive trio and won over a large following to the sport. Its success was unqestionable.

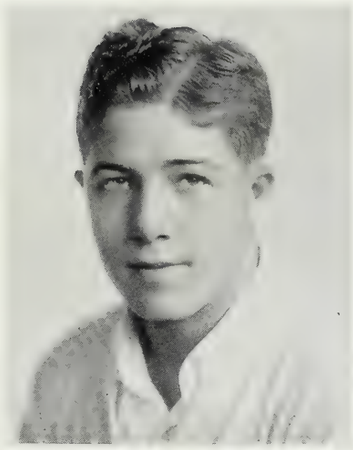

Playing a three man team during the indoor season, Coach Lieutenant Pepper Clay had two reliable veterans as the bulwark of his hard riding team and found four men capable of filling in at any position. The performers were so evenly matched that Lt. Clay often had a difficult time in selecting lineups. Captain Hall Teeman, playing in the number three position, and Lou Alyea at number two position were the veterans, each an outstanding rider and player in the Conference. Alyea was one of the highest scorers in the collegiate circuit.

The number one position found Ivan Kovacic, Frank Mercer, Edward Anger and Ted Durfee as rivals. These four men also substituted for the veterans Teeman and Alyea. The quartet of riders worked well with the two regulars and shared the position during the season, Kovacic getting the call most of the time, however. The outdoor season provided more of an opportunity for the substitutes to show their skill, since the team was not restricted to three men as in the indoor fashion.

VARSITY TENNIS

Without an outstanding star on the roster for the first time in many years, the Illinois tennis team for the 1934 season, scheduled to face the best Conference teams of the year, won only four of eleven matches, losing five and emerging with two ties for a mediocre record. Both tie matches were with Conference rivals, one with Purdue, the other with Michigan. Illinois was defeated by Iowa, Michigan, Chicago, and Minnesota on the Western Conference list.

The team lived up to its itinerant reputation in the number of matches played on rival campus courts, for only four engagements were played on the varsity courts last season. Four trips were made: one to Iowa for matches with Iowa and Iowa State Teachers, one to Michigan for matches with the Wolverines and the State Teachers, a third trip to Minnesota to play the Gophers, and a fourth to Chicago for matches with the Maroons on the Midway and Northwestern in Evanston. In the lone Conference match at home, Illinois tied Purdue. The Illini defeated Washburn College and Bradley, the former twice, in the other home non-Conference matches.

Illinois won fifth place in the Conference meet with five points. Chicago was crowned champion for the year with fourteen points. The Illini were unable to pass the second round in the elimination tournament for the Conference title in either singles or doubles.

INTRAMURAL

EDWIN J. MANLEY
Director

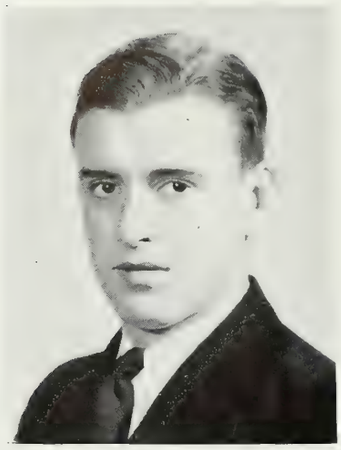

The Department of Intramural Athletics was created at the University of Illinois during the World War to furnish a mass athletic scheme for the soldiers who were trained here. Since its inception the Intramural Department has grown until it now reaches almost every male student in the University. During the first year Intramural competition was compulsory, but it has since been found that interest is greater and competition keener under the present system which allows anyone to compete or not as he wishes. The aim of the Department always has been to furnish exercise and recreation to every student, and its growth from an organization reaching but a few hundred students to one in which from five to seven thousand participate yearly has been most gratifying to its directors.

The program of the Intramural Department is carried on under the direction of Mr. E. J. Manley, Director, and a corps of student managers. Sophomores interested in the work are allowed to compete for the two junior managerships. At the end of each year the Athletic Council selects two of the sophomores to serve as junior managers, and one of the junior managers to serve as senior manager during the next school year. The junior managers have active charge of the Intramural Office and direct the work of the sophomores. They draw up and check all schedules, award points, and check eligibility of participants. The senior manager directs the work of the junior managers, sees that sports are run off on time, and coordinates the various activities of the department to keep the sports and schedules from conflicting so that each group may enter every sport that it desires. This staff also settles any difficulties or disputes that arise in the playing of the game.

GYMKHANA

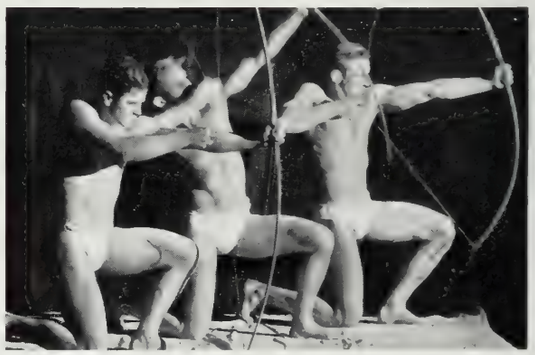

The first annual Gymkhana, sponsored by Gymnastica, honorary gymnastic fraternity, under the able direction of Hartley Price was an overwhelming success. In fact it proved such a success that it was decided to enlarge upon this branch of gymnastics. There are about fifty members of Gymnastica from which twelve to fifteen of the most outstanding and versatile performers are selected to perform in the annual Gymkhana.

The first annual Gymkhana furnished a program of colorful, polished, and artistic events including all forms of apparatus stunts; tap, soft shoe, character, comedy, and folk dancing; calisthenics; Indian and electric club swinging; wand and barbell routines; and hand-to-hand balancing and pyramids. None of the numbers which were in last year's show will be repeated for four years so that the danger of monotony and repetition will be avoided. Gymkhana affords a wonderful opportunity for Physical Education students to become more proficient in their work as none of the numbers in the routine are taught in the professional physical education courses.

So much interest has been shown in the productions of Gymnastica by various high schools in Illinois that shows have been scheduled at Rockford, Joliet, Jacksonville, and Champaign. After completing this schedule, the season will be climaxed by the second annual Gymkhana. Plans are being made for a tour into some of the eastern states including Pennsylvania and New York during the coming year.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK

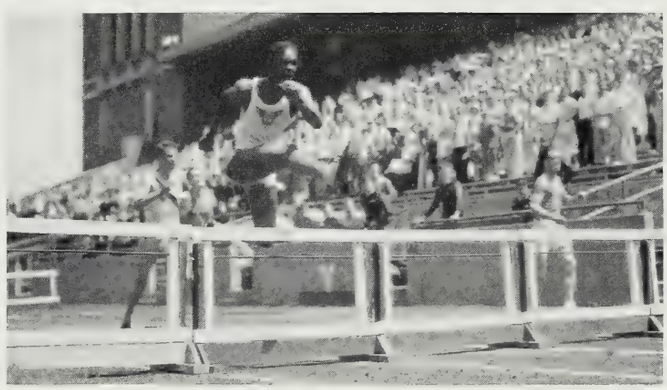

Displaying great power in the field events, New Trier High School won the 40th annual Illinois Interscholastic track and field meet in Memorial Stadium after two busy days featured by the establishment of four new records. Sterling, one of the outsiders, proved a surprise team of the meet by scoring 15 points to tie Rockford, defending champions, for second place.

Bob Packard, sprinting star of Rockford, was the outstanding performer in the meet. Packard won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and ran anchor man on the winning half mile relay team. Lowell Spurgeon of Centralia was the only other double winner, establishing a new record to win the broad jump, and leaping 6 feet, 3 inches, to tie for first in the high jump.

Bill Faymonville of the championship New Trier team broke the old discus mark, established in 1910 at the 4th Interscholastic meet, the oldest record on the books. Faymonville threw the discus 139 feet, 8 inches, to break the old record by three inches. Bob Gebhardt of Sterling established a new mark in the half mile race, beating the defending champion and record holder, Wayne Rideout of Tuscola. Jack Freeston of Atlanta shattered the old shot-put mark, throwing the iron ball 52 feet, 6⅜ inches. In the broad jump, Spurgeon broke the old record by jumping 24 feet, ¾ inches.

John Shostrum of Parker High School successfully defended his tennis title in the singles, while William and Charles Murphy of Tilden, Chicago, won the doubles event.

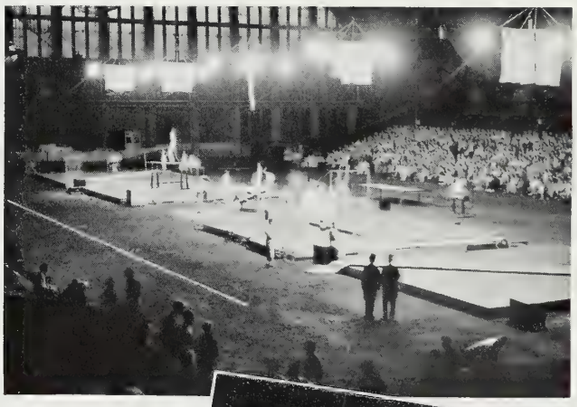

INTERSCHOLASTIC

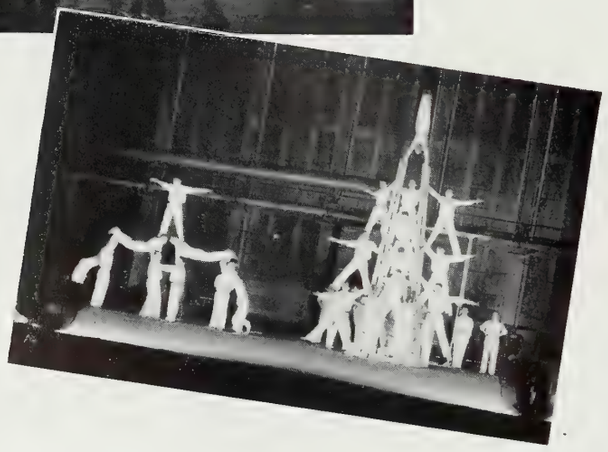

Hailed as the "Greatest Student Circus on Earth," the annual Interscholastic Circus was staged in the Armory to the delight of some five thousand spectators who marvelled at the thrilling performances of the student acrobats and revelled in the fun of the evening.

The University of Illinois Band struck up a marching air to start the performance as the scores of entertainers paraded about the arena, clothed in all their circus finery and leading the animals imported directly from the darkest forests of Africa. The trip from their African haunts, unfortunately, seemed to materially affect the creatures, for on several occasions it seemed as if they were ready to step out of their skins and fall apart.

An entire new repertoire of acts was responsible for much of the tremendous success of the circus, and a host of almost always funny clowns kept the crowd in gales of laughter. The barber clown was there, as ever, giving another clown a haircut, and the funny photographer (not the Illio man) managed to get everybody wet. Mickey Mouse was enrolled in college, and he brought with him the famous three little piggies. Freddy Roos, dressed as the somewhat forward and fat Fatima, favorite of the sultan's harem, made the rounds with a shimmy dance that put gelatin desserts to shame. Bud Wise, mimicking the acrobats with notoriously poor success, took a good many bumps, but the crowd gave him a hand that was worthy of his troubles.

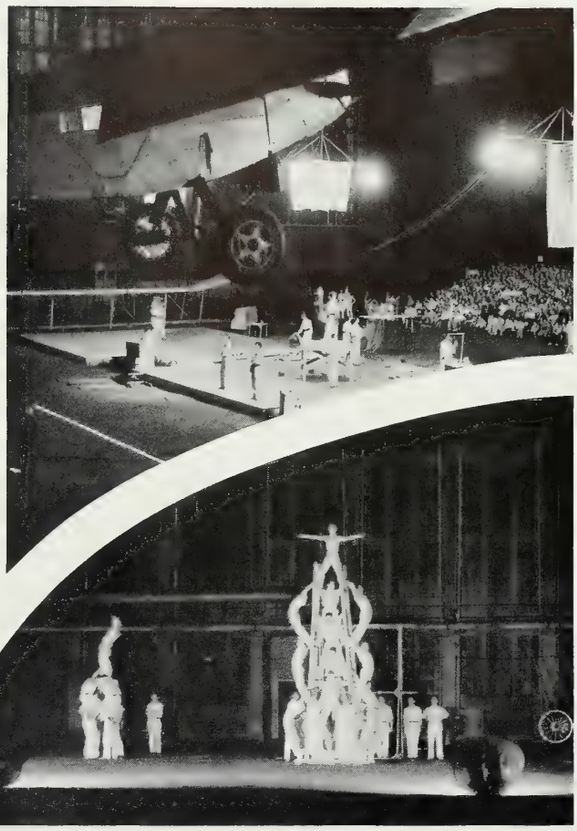

C I R C U S

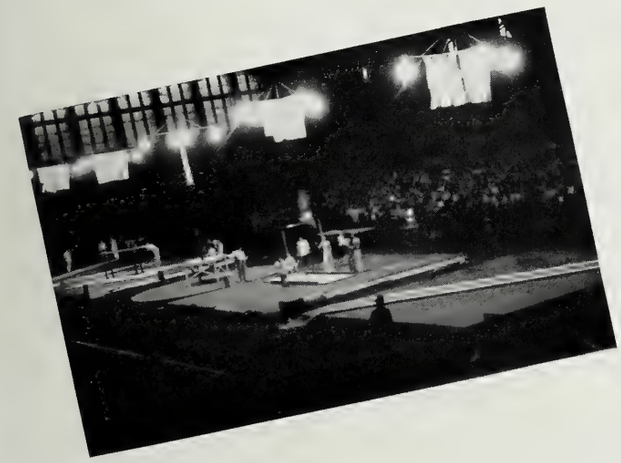

As for the actual gymnastics, which provided one of the chief portions of the evening, new acts that were almost stupendous in effort and success were royally welcomed. Francis Preve's "Iron Jaw" act in which he was suspended from the ceiling by means of a cord held between his teeth was received with applause. Another feature was the flying trapeze act where four men were cast into the air simultaneously and successfully caught at the opposite end of the swing.

Paul Prather provided one of the highlights of the evening when he performed what is majestically titled the "Muscle Grind Trapeze," hanging with his arms locked and the bar between his forearm and upper arm while he revolved countless times. Paul Derr's tap dancing classes presented two group stunts which met with great approval. The trapeze artists, in addition to their "Four Man" act, presented fifteen minutes of fancy work, some of it while blindfolded, showing the perfection and accurate co-ordination attained in months of practice.

The twenty-foot perch-pole act was given by Bud Wayman and brawny Vincent Miszeika. A twenty-foot pole was held by Miszeika while Wayman perched atop it and did hand-stands and other gymnastic stunts in which he excels, without the benefit of a protective net. Jimmy Stein was the most versatile performer of the day, doing tricks on a unicycle, a single wheeled affair without handlebars, spinning ropes, walking wires, rilling globes, climbing ladders, and juggling.

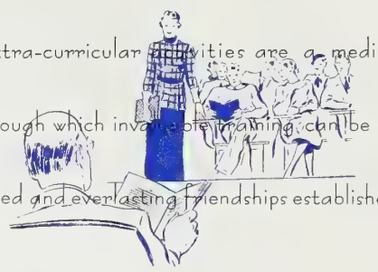

Extra-curricular activities are a medium through which invaluable training can be secured and everlasting friendships established.

ACTIVITIES

Scholarship is very properly the most important side of college life, for it is the means of attaining a well-trained mind. But there are many other activities without which a university could not fulfill its ultimate goal of presenting a well-balanced education. From participation in these extra-curricular activities the student gains an added sense of responsibility which is a decided advantage in life after graduation. And more valuable than all else are the associations and friendships with men and women having similar interests and purposes. . . . .

Approximately three thousand women on the campus of the University of Illinois meet and become acquainted with one another through Woman's League. This organization is the most influential and active of the feminine groups on campus. The Illini spirit of unity is fostered by Woman's League, and opportunities for self government and the promotion of a feeling of democracy among its members are provided. Each Wednesday Orange and Blue Co-eds meet over the tea cups, greeting old friends and making new ones at the League Teas.

Membership is unlimited, registration in the University automatically making a place for every girl. Woman's League in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A. advances the ideal of responsibility to one another through the campus sister movement, by which girls on campus write to prospective students during the summer, making friends with them and thus assuring them a welcome even before they come to school.

The First Council of Woman's League is the general governing body of the League and informs organized houses of the League's policies and affairs. Any announcement to the University women may be made at First Council meetings and then relayed to all women through their group presidents.

Woman's League, with the Illinois Union, plans and manages Homecoming, Dad's Day and Mother's Day celebrations. Of these Mother's Day in the late Spring is more specifically the work of the League.

The proceeds of the Annual Spring Theatrical production of Woman's League are used to defray the operating expenses of the three League co-operative houses, Alpha, Beta, and Campbell Cottage.

The Woman's Group System, an integral part of Woman's League, organizes the independent women into social groups.

Through its Freshman and Sophomore organizations, Orange and Blue Feathers and Gold Feathers, Woman's League promotes scholarship, friendship, and loyalty among the underclassmen as well as providing an excellent opportunity for them to develop executive ability and individual talents.

Woman's League acts as a general unifying and harmonizing influence among campus women in scholarship, activities, and social functions.

Succeeding a year of orientation and introduction to campus life in Orange and Blue Feathers, Gold Feathers furthers the Illini principles of friendliness, scholarship, and activities, and strengthens the loyalty and democracy of its members.

Looking forward to the following year when some of its members will assume positions of responsibility on campus, Gold Feathers trains for leadership, giving the Sophomore women opportunities to prove their dependability, initiative, and forcefulness. It instills in its members a desire to further activities for the sake of the campus. Its members serve at Woman's League teas, helping new women on campus become acquainted. Good scholarship is a prime requisite for initiation into Gold Feathers, as are activity points. This latter requirement increases participation in other campus activities, thus permitting Gold Feathers to act as a harmonizing factor among the different campus organizations.

A means of Freshman orientation, Orange and Blue Feathers strives to unite a decentralized Freshman group and acquaint its members with campus traditions and activities.

In the fall "The Trial of Peg Fairfax," is presented by feminine campus leaders to emphasize the need for participation in campus activities. This idea is further developed at meetings where campus leaders describe their particular activities and the opportunities these hold for Freshmen women. At such meetings and at parties with Gold Feathers, the women are encouraged to make new friends. Orange and Blue Feathers emphasizes high scholarship by requiring a "C" average for initiation. Prior to the inspiring initiation in May final instruction in Illini traditions, opportunities, and personalities is given, and after an examination in this material cups are presented to the individual and group receiving the highest grades.

The Young Women's Christian Association of the University of Illinois was first organized in 1884. The original building that housed both the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. was on the site now occupied by Curry Cottage which is located directly behind the present Y. W. C. A. building on the corner of Wright and John streets. The building now in use was erected in 1913 largely from the contribution of Congressman William B. McKinley for whom the dormitory, McKinley Hall, is named.

Through the grouping of University women with similar purposes and intellectual outlook around the varied interests and projects of the association, the Y. W. C. A. endeavors to give them an opportunity to think through their religious problems and to grow religiously. It is effective in helping them to define their social responsibilities and to work together in making their ideals, thus acquired, effective in their own lives as well as in all their relationships.

By being a member of such an organization each girl comes to feel that she is part of a world-wide fellowship. The Y. W. C. A. strives to keep in close contact with the interests of the campus woman and to serve her in a practical way. Since the interests and needs of the members are so diversified, it is necessary to provide many committees and activities. Each girl on the cabinet, which is the policy-forming body of the association, has a genuine interest in the Y. W. C. A. as a whole, and a particular interest in her own department as a committee chairman, Girl Reserve Leader, or Freshman Discussion Group Leader. Annually since 1906, the Y. W. C. A. has sponsored a Doll Show for the benefit of charity. Dolls dressed and contributed by sororities, group houses, and individual women, are entered in this show and displayed for two days. After prizes have been awarded to the best displays, the dolls are sent to charitable organizations for distribution among poor families, and for use as toys in recreation centers.

Through engaging in the varied program which has as its purpose, "To realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, to have apart in making this life possible for all people, and to understand Jesus and follow Him," the women gain the finest and most lasting friendships.

The Women's Athletic Association is affiliated with the Athletic Conference of American College Women. This organization includes associations of recognized colleges and universities throughout the country, each having for its purpose the unification of ideals and the establishment of standards of athletics for college women.

The Women's Athletic Association is open to every woman on campus who completes participation in two sport seasons. Its purpose is to further athletic interests and activities for the women of the University of Illinois, and by so doing to promote ideals of wholesome living on campus.

In addition to the work of the major organization, the Women's Athletic Association supervises the activities of its branch organizations which include Terrapin, an honorary swimming organization; the Telegraphic Swimming Team, W. A. A.'s one opportunity to engage in interscholastic sports; and Orchesis, an honorary dance organization.

Orchesis, a national dancing organization, sponsors interpretive dancing and affords an opportunity for women to give expression to their moods and feelings in rhythms. Each year two dance programs are presented to the public. The major recital takes place on the Saturday afternoon of Mother's Day Week-end, immediately following the annual W. A. A. May Fete.

This May festival, a beautiful ceremony, concludes with the crowning of a W. A. A. girl as Queen of the May following the impressive processional down the broadwalk of the Queen and her court, the campus Mortar Boards and Torches.

As a part of the general campus welcoming of incoming freshmen, the major organization of W. A. A. gives a Sans Souci party in the fall. At this time the program of the organization is explained to the new women, its leaders introduced, and membership in it encouraged.

The main activities of W. A. A. are concerned with the wide variety of sports afforded to its members. It is in these that W. A. A. is able to present its ideals of good sportsmanship, keen competition, and physical well-being.

The one possibility for feminine entry in Big Ten competition, the Telegraphic Swimming Meet stimulates interest in and appreciation of proficiency in swimming among the college and university women throughout the country.

It is an outgrowth of the Big Ten Telegraphic Swimming Meet organized by the University of Illinois in 1930 and now includes colleges and universities throughout the United States. In 1931, 1932, and 1933 the Big Ten Meets were won by Illinois, under the capable coaching of Ann A. Smith, and in 1934, the first year of the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet, Illinois placed fifth, topping all other Big Ten teams.

The members of the team are the fifteen fastest swimmers in the University, each of whom enters in not more than three of the possible events: the 40 and 100 yard crawl, back crawl, and breast stroke races.

Competition, which is limited to colleges and universities having certified sixty or seventy-five foot pools, is carried on at the separate schools and the results of each meet are telegraphed to the Regional Sponsors. They in turn telegraph to the National Sponsor the first ten places in each event and national results are computed from these. It is from such telegraphing as this that the meet takes it name.

Terrapin Club, founded in 1923, strives to further interest and proficiency in swimming, diving, and life saving, and to promote the spirit of good sportsmanship and friendship among its members.

Membership is limited to only the most skilled swimmers who have passed perfectly a rigorous test in swimming, diving, and life saving. This test is so difficult that never more than ten girls have become members during a single year. Consequently, an organization, Minor Terrapin, an outgrowth of the old Tadpole Club, has been formed to prepare swimmers of lesser ability for the requirements of the major club.

Each year the entire endeavor of the club centers on a water pageant which is presented on Mother's Day. In this pageant Terrapin members strive to present in the most beautiful way possible the arts of swimming and diving, and to show that they have truly lived up to the aims of the club.

The highest award to be given by W. A. A. is the Major I which can be earned upon the completion of twelve sport seasons. At the Annual Spring Banquet given in May, the Major I's are awarded by the president of the association.

Four sport seasons' credit is the most any woman can earn in one year. And to accomplish this, she must participate in some one sport each season. W. A. A. sponsors a two-fold program of interhouse and interclass sports. The Major I can be obtained by participating in either, although one girl cannot play on both interhouse and interclass teams in the same sport. All organized houses are eligible to participate each season in a tournament after completing the required number of practices. The winning house is awarded a trophy, and at the end of the year, the house earning the greatest number of points becomes the temporary possessor of the big W. A. A. plaque.

Such interhouse sports are very closely contested and the girls seize every possible opportunity to gain more points for their houses. Fortunately, W. A. A. provides such a variety of activities for the girls to enter that everyone can find a sport which she particularly enjoys. The Tri-Delts succeeded in crowding out the other organized houses early this fall to win the swimming championship and get an early start toward earning the coveted W. A. A. plaque which the Thetas now hold. But the following season they lost their lead to the Pi Phi's who came out victorious in the volley ball tournaments.

In addition to team competition in interhouse and interclass matches W. A. A. also offers individual sports which likewise count towards W. A. A. awards. In these Ruth Koch won in golf, and Lois Keene in ping-pong.

The W. A. A. sport calendar is divided into four seasons. In the first season hockey, soccer, swimming, tennis, and golf are offered. The second season starting in late fall and continuing until mid-winter includes basketball, volleyball, and ping-pong. In the third season, ending in early spring, volleyball, basketball, handball, and tennikoit are played. And in the last season which continues until the close of school in the Spring, tennis, baseball, golf, and archery are offered.

The W. A. A. system of awards is based on participation in these sport seasons. Any member of the organization earning six sport seasons' credit receives her class numerals which are made of orange chenille. Each season is completed with competitive interclass games or individual matches following a period of strenuous practice. These matches stir up keen rivalry among the participants, winning combinations being anxiously picked and held together from year to year in an effort to win the coveted championship. Last Spring the Seniors were victorious in volley ball and this year the succeeding Senior Class triumphed in hockey, but the laurels in interclass basketball went to the Juniors after a thrilling, hard fought tournament in which they barely managed to nose out the Seniors and a plucky, fast Freshman team who tied with the Seniors for second place this year and will be a real threat in future competitions.

In previous years, numerals were awarded to all members of championship teams. But this plan permitted only the skilled players to earn them, and the large group of mediocre participators had little opportunity to obtain this award. Under the new system, these numerals are a reward for faithful and continuous effort and are presented by the president of the association at the tea following the completion of each sport season.

This year, on February 22 and 23, Woman's League, under the capable supervision of Severina E. Nelson, presented as its annual show, "No, No, Nanette." The cast consisted of many favorite campus entertainers. Taking the title role was Lorama Wiese as "Nanette," who, although a newcomer on this campus, showed what she could do in the way of singing, dancing, and acting. Opposite Nanette played Tom, characterized by David L. Pettigrew, whose ability has already been recognized by confirmed student theater-goers. George H. Miller, Jr., an experienced campus actor, who played the part of Jimmy Smith, the good looking young millionaire with a heart of gold, won the admiration of the audience. Howard W. Wilson took the part of Jimmy's sidekick, Billy. Billy's wife, Lucille, played by Elinor T. Davis, exhibited such sophistication as has never before been seen in a campus production. Also included in the cast were Jimmy's wife, played by Mary E. Cover, the giggling gold-diggers, Winnie, Betty, and Flora, played by Mildred A. Fisher, Jane Fry, and Charlotte Rudolphsen, respectively, and the maid, Pauline, played by Nellie M. Stuart.

Such popular songs as "Tea for Two," "No, No, Nanette," and "I Want to be Happy," helped to make this Woman's League production the most successful show that the League has ever presented. Gay, humorous, and fast-moving, brightened by excellent scenery and beautiful costumes, it delighted its appreciative spectators.

The only organization of its kind on any college campus in the country, Woman's Group System makes it possible for independent women to enjoy the same opportunities in campus activities and social life that the members of organized houses do. Membership in it is open to all independent women on campus and is divided into separate groups.

An integral part of Woman's League, Woman's Group System works with that organization in campus activities, furthering those of its members as well as cooperating in inter-group activities, such as their athletic tournaments, musicales, and banquets. Gay "stay-over" parties, open to both independent and organized students alike, are held during the holidays and teas are arranged where all independent women can meet and make new friends. In conjunction with the Independent Council, Woman's Group System sponsors two major campus dances, the Independent Informal in the fall and Mi-Hila Ball in May.

Woman's Group System also upholds scholarship and furthers its attainment among independent women by presenting a scholarship cup to that group having the highest scholastic average each semester.

In thus uniting independent women, Woman's Group System realized the aim of Woman's League to have "every woman organized."

"NO, NO, NANETTE"

Sophistication, worldliness, and extravagance mingled with innocence and thrift made the Woman's League Show, "No, No, Nanette," a truly absorbing and entertaining musical comedy.

The broad comedy of Nellie Stuart as the deplorably stupid maid and the antics of Howie Wilson as the victim of an expensive wife, kept the audience continuously amused.

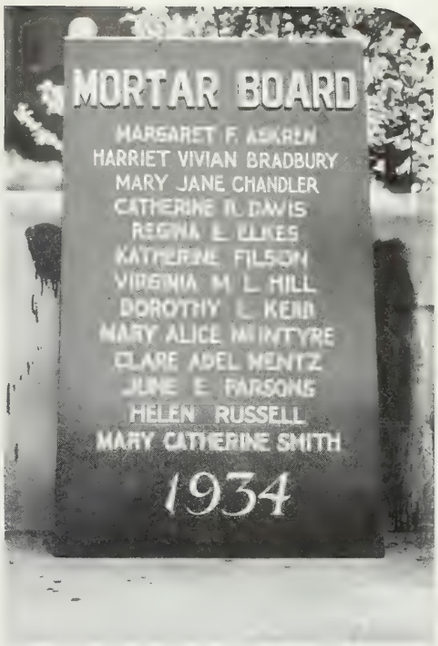

A lovely chorus, dainty in flowing white gowns and carrying fancy little parasols swayed gracefully to the rhythm of "Tea for Two," while the hero and heroine, Dave Pettigrew and Lorama Wiese sang.

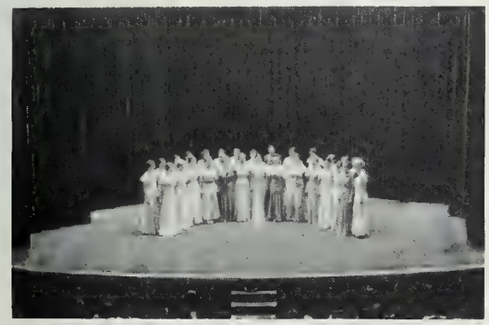

In addition to the choruses, songs, and excellent acting, clever specialty numbers like Jean Fitzgerald's perfectly balanced toe-dancing, added variety to the program.

Under the capable direction of Severina E. Nelson the whole cast worked together as a unit, presenting a finished production against a background of realistic scenery.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

ACTIVITIES

Drawn together through the unifying work of Woman's League, whose Executive Council is its governing body, the campus activities of Illinois women are varied and interesting.

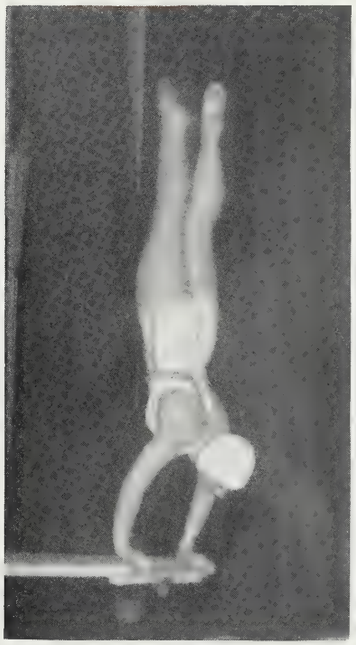

The Wednesday teas of the league provide a social hour where campus women can forget their scholastic worries and widen their circle of acquaintances.

W. A. A. sponsors the annual May Fete with its parade down the Broadwalk of the May Queen, followed by her maids of honor, the Mortar Boards of the preceding year, and her court, the new Mortar Boards and Torches. This May Fete climaxes the Mother's Day week-end celebration which is opened by the Shi-Ai Sing Friday night when the competing sororities sing their chapter songs.

Symbolic of the highest achievement in feminine campus activities and scholarship, Mortar Board rests in its traditional place on Senior Bench.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

W. A. A.

The ball posed for the serve, teammates alert and opponents ready to receive it, the W. A. A. Volley ball tournament gets under way, and with it another W. A. A. sport season begins, with its melee of nerve-racking ties, hard-won victories, and good keen competition. Both interclass and interhouse competition is engaged in, with the interhouse volleyball championship going to the smiling Pi Phi team above after a close match.

Aside from team competition in basketball, hockey, soccer, and baseball, W. A. A. offers individual competition in ping-pong, golf, diving, and similar sports. And for those most proficient in swimming and diving W. A. A. has founded two separate organizations, the Telegraphic Swimming Team and Terrapin Club. The latter of these sponsors the annual water carnival, which, with its beautiful exhibition of difficult diving and intricate water formations, is a symbol of the combination of art and sport that W. A. A. has achieved. The 1934 carnival was the pageant of "Die Lorelei," perfectly enacted and replete with beautiful silver mermaids as well as clumsy but clever clowns.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

CHINESE NIGHT

Y. W. C. A. DOLL SHOW

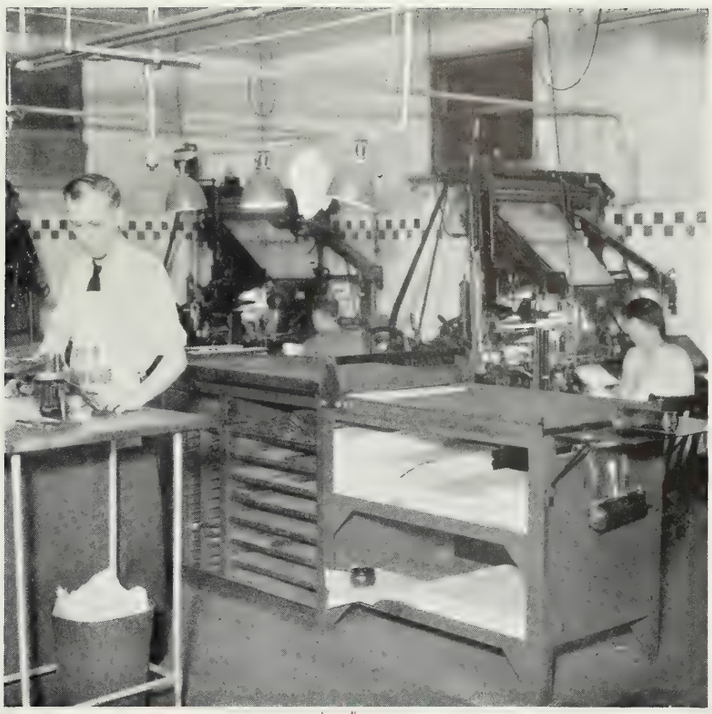

The Twenty-ninth Annual Doll Show, a real tribute to the industry of its able chairman, Ruth A. Lyddon, and her committee, delighted a campus imaginative enough to enjoy its fanciful nature and charitable enough to appreciate the welfare idea behind it.

This year the theme, "Our Foreign Cousins," was carefully carried out in the realistic and widely varying entries, depicting typical scenes from the nations of the world. First place in the sorority entries went to the Thetas for a scene from a Black Forest Village home. First place in the Group System entries went to Alcestis for an Eskimo scene.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

All the happenings about the campus are permanently recorded, the events of to-day are the history of tomorrow. . . .

On May 11, 1911, the Illini Publishing Company was chartered by the State of Illinois as a corporation not for profit. This corporation is controlled by a Board of Directors consisting of four faculty members selected by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs and four students elected by the student body. All student publications at the University of Illinois are subsidiaries of the Company, and the management of these publications is directed by the above Board of Control.

Like many other administrative and legislative enactments, the creation of a supervisory agency for publications on the University of Illinois campus was partially the result of unwise practices by those who had been entrusted with the responsibilities of editing and managing the publications in former years.

The condition existing since 1911, with editors and managers and their chief assistants appointed by the Board on the merit system, has resulted in obtaining a much higher level of professional competency on both the editorial and business staffs of campus publications. There has been also a continuity of policy and purpose and a safe-guarding of property, as well as a full settlement of obligations each year with local creditors. The employment of a full-time manager, during the last fourteen years, has given the publishing company a means of advising the newer members of the staff each year.

Donald S. Hoebel . . . Acting Company Manager

The Illini Publishing Company, which issues all student publications at the University of Illinois has been so succcessful since its organization in 1911, that it has served as a model to many other universities. Its growth has been so rapid and its influence so widespread that today it is regarded by many as the greatest student publishing company in the country.

The system of conducting the student publications is based upon the employment, by the company, of a business manager who is in charge of the business offices and advises the publications managers. The combinations of all the publications, with a capable manager at its head, has enabled the student managers and editors to improve their publications from year to year.

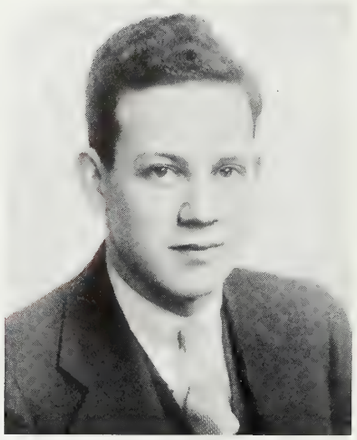

The rapid growth of the publishing company may be seen in the present plant, one of the best equipped college publishing companies in the United States, which turns out a daily eight-page eight-column metropolitan newspaper, carrying full Associated Press leased wire service, and also prints all student publications except The Illio.

The company's success in business, made possible by a firm foundation and well-directed policies, is clearly indicated by its physical expansion.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate, now rounding out its first year of existence, had its origin in 1931 as a result of growing dissatisfaction with the system of student government among the undergraduate student body. In this year a move was instigated to change the student government and culminated last spring with the adoption of a new constitution.

The change calls for the replacement of the old Student Council by a Student Senate composed of eighteen activity heads chosen ex-officio, eight representatives from each of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes, the four class presidents, and one junior representative each from the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Commerce, Engineering, Agriculture, Fine and Applied Arts, and the School of Physical Education, and a senior representative from the School of Journalism and the College of Education, making a total of fifty-four.

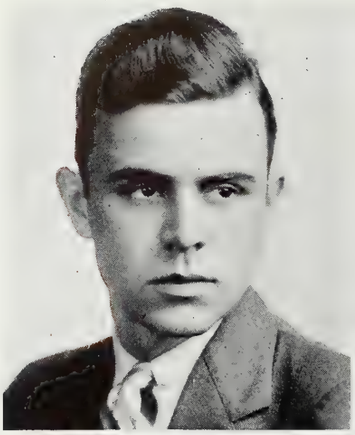

Any undergraduate in the University with sophomore standing is eligible to petition for a position. The procedure, as outlined by the constitution, requires fifty signatures on the petition, which must be turned in to the secretary of the Student Affairs Committee. If approved, the student's name is placed on the ballot in the Student Senate elections held early in the first semester. In this way the average student has an opportunity to participate in his government.

The constitution of this new system of government states its purpose as follows:

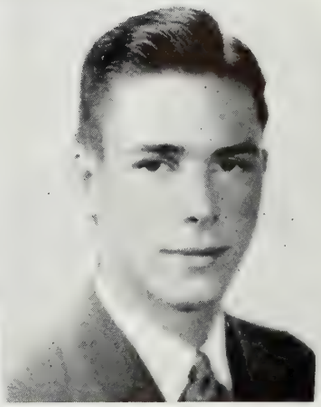

"The purpose of this senate shall be to promote the welfare of the student body in the best interest of all; to control and administer effectively all matters which properly fall under the jurisdiction of the general student self-government."

The Illinois Union was founded in 1909 with a membership of 2,000 which has steadily increased until at present it has an enrollment of 22,000. During the summer of 1934, the University took over the Union Building's first and second floor center sections for a new student lounge and recreation center, as well as for headquarters for student activities. Freshmen can find places upon Illinois Union Committees and have opportunity to work up through the merit system to junior and senior positions.

The Young Men's Christian Association is an inter-denominational religious organization of University students and faculty members who seek to make the principles of Christian living vital in all phases of campus life, and the group endeavors to instill into its members Christian ideals essential to leadership. Membership in the Y. M.C. A. is voluntary, and every man in the University is eligible for participation in its activities.

For sixty years the organization has conducted activities supplying needs and desires of the students, not offered by other agencies. Student committees promote its activities and they aim to develop a varied program to attain the best in individual and community life. Among its many activities conducted on campus are, the annual Vocational Conference Week, All-University Sunday evening services, promotion of friendly relations with foreign students, the annual Freshman camp, Freshman-Faculty dinners, the All-pledge dinner, and the annual Freshman mixer.

The Student Alumni Association was organized in 1932 for the purpose of furthering a better understanding between the alumni, the undergraduates, and the prospective students of the University in Illinois communities.

On the campus the Association has sponsored a series of dances which have helped both to acquaint undergraduates with the work of the Association and also to finance its program. The Homecoming and Army dances in the fall were enjoyed by alumni and students, the Registration dance between semesters was exclusively a student affair, and the Interscholastic party was given in honor of the high school guests who were on the campus for the annual Interscholastic track meet.

In its effort to interest superior high school students in the University the Student Alumni Association has helped to acquaint students all over the state with the facilities and the opportunities offered in their own State University. Circulating "The Illini Trail," University sound film, interviewing prospective students, giving Illios to several hundred high school libraries, and entertaining high school guests on the campus have been the major accomplishments this year under President Floyd A. Singleton.

The Student Alumni Association is represented in all business meetings of the Alumni Association and shares the general alumni office in the Illinois Union.

The University of Illinois Alumni Association, founded June 15, 1873, is a corporation of graduates, former students, and faculty members of the University.

The Association's office in the Illinois Union Building is the clearing house for information about alumni. The Illinois Alumni News which is published monthly and circulated to the several thousand Association members keeps them in touch with the University, with the news of their classmates, and with the activities of class groups and community Illini clubs. Each of the sixty-three classes graduated from the University has a permanent organization with a class secretary who corresponds with the class members and publishes a monthly class news section in the alumni magazine.

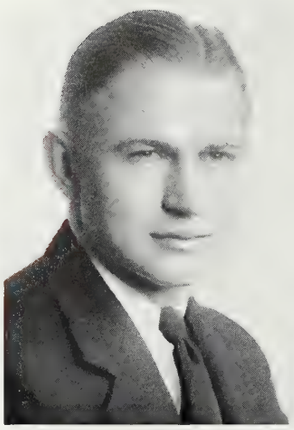

More than one hundred thousand graduates and former students are listed in the active alumni index and a mailing list and a biographical file are kept constantly up to date. With the aid of these files, alumni locate their old friends, employers find men and women to fill positions, groups are brought together for special events, lost articles are returned to their owners, and the University, the Athletic Association and other campus organizations are enabled to address communications direct to the alumni.

Membership in the Alumni Association brings together those graduates and former students who have at heart the best interests of the University and it gives them a voice in the control of one of the University's most valuable assets—an association of active and interested alumni.

The Agriculture Council works toward bringing the agricultural students into closer contact with each other and their faculty, and with the field of agriculture. The council is under the direction of the president of the Agricultural Club, and is composed of the semester presidents of the specialized agriculture clubs: Hoof and Horn, Dairy, Field and Furrow, Agricultural Engineering, Horticulture, Agricultural Education, and Dairy Technology Society. Any member of the Agricultural Club who holds an office in the National Intercollegiate Agriculture Council is also eligible for membership in this council.

Business matters of the specialized clubs, pertaining to the Agricultural Club, of which they are subsidiaries, are brought before the Agriculture Council, which in this manner endeavors to co-ordinate the activities of these clubs. The Council arouses interest in the College of Agriculture, by assisting these specialized clubs in improving their meetings, and establishing a program of work that promotes better agricultural methods. It annually sponsors the Freshman-Faculty Mixer, the Little International, the Ag Dance, the All-Agricultural Banquet, the All-Ag Field Day, and the Spring Judging Contest.

DANCE SUPERVISION COMMITTEE

MEMBERS

Louis E. Beckman, Jr. . . . . Chairman
Virginia M. Hill — Samuel H. Law
Theodore Hoffman — Floyd A. Singleton

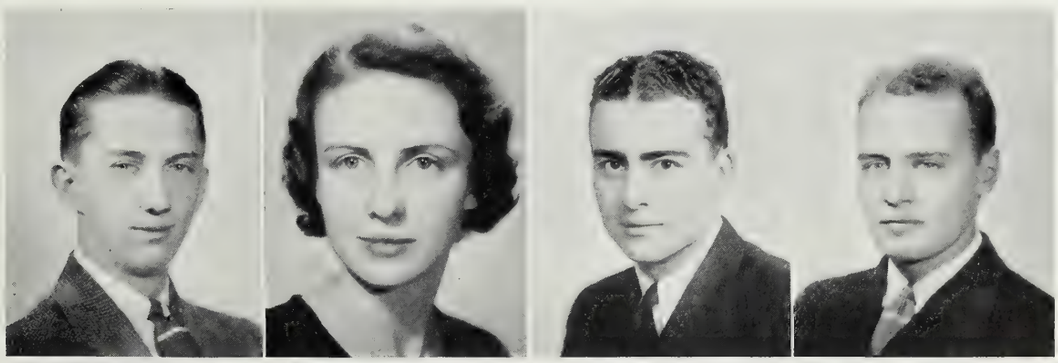

Louis E. Beckman, Jr.
Chairman

The Dance Supervision Committee is organized by the Student Senate for the purpose of administration of University dances. Its membership consists of five undergraduate students, four seniors and one junior man. Three of these seniors and the junior are selected every fall by the Student Senate. The fifth member of the committee is the junior member of the previous year.

The members are responsible to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. They approve of the time and place of dances, before the representatives of these dances present their requests to the Student Affairs Committee. They supervise the distribution of invitation and complimentary tickets at all dances, and also present a written report to the Senate Committee concerning the progress of all dances at least two weeks before the date of the dance. One member of the Dance Supervision Committee is a member also of a Senate sub-committee for the awarding of contracts for all dances.

Though the committee was originally organized that it might serve in an advisory capacity for the class dances, its scope was gradually widened to include all major University dances. At present the committee also manages ticket sales, helps in the preparation of budgets, and in other ways endeavors to insure the success of all the University social affairs.

A great deal of the success of the dances during the past year may be credited to Louis E. Beckman and Floyd A. Singleton, the chairmen during the first and second semesters. The committee has materially aided in the achievements of the various dance committees in presenting to the Illini a group of dances unprecedented in attendance, entertainment, and music.

The Illini Theatre Guild came into existence in 1924 for the purpose of supervising and controlling all dramatic performances by undergraduate dramatic societies of the University of Illinois. It aims to coordinate such dramatic activity and to promote its general welfare on the campus. The members of the Guild are Mask and Bauble, Pierrots, and Arepo. The Faculty Players Club is a patron member, and the Woman's League and Y. W. C. A. are associate members. The Guild productions this year consisted of six productions by members and three productions by its patron members. The Theatre Guild is governed by a Board of Directors made up of representatives from the five member organizations and two faculty members chosen each year by the Committee on Student Affairs. Recently the Guild has made possible the purchase of season books. These books contain six coupons, each good in exchange for a reserved seat at any major Guild performance.

The Theatre Guild serves a definite cultural purpose on the campus. Since its formation, the Guild has endeavored to attempt more and more difficult productions in theatrical art. The Lincoln Hall Theatre was constructed in 1930 and increased the incentive to develop more complete dramatic productions. It stands today as the most modern structure of its type in any university. The campus is fortunate in having such an organization to stimulate the culture of the student body, and it deserves its fullest support.

"Beyond the Horizon," a play by Eugene O'Neill, was presented on April 13 and 14, 1934 on the stage of the Lincoln Hall Theater. The play, under the direction of Wesley Swanson, was a fascinating one from the opening scene on the hilltop until the final curtain, and held the audience in its spell for an entire three hours. Preston Tuttle as Robert Mayo, the youth with seagoing instincts who was tied down to the farm, and Joseph Miksak as Andrew Mayo, the brother who tried desperately to understand, gave excellent characterizations of their difficult roles; Jane Rose Whitley was fine as the cranky invalid mother-in-law; and Ruth Martin was at her best in enacting Ruth Atkins' hopeless air of defeat in the last act.

The interior and exterior sets of the New England farm were especially fine. In fact, a genuine oak tree was actually used to depict the reality of an outdoor scene. The play is not a light one and depends a great deal upon good acting and expert stage technique for its successful interpretation. We cannot say that this play was lacking either, for both of these attributes were capably handled.

BEYOND THE HORIZON

The Lincoln Hall Theatre, on May 4-5, 1934, housed the Arepo production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado." This show was directed by Kathryn Janie Sutherlin and conducted by Russell Miles. Patrons saw the campus encore record broken when George Miller, as Koko, was brought back six times to sing "The Flowers that Bloom in the Spring." This was not the only high spot in the production. Nat Cohen, as the Mikado, sang his songs with such clever gestures that he, too, was obliged to do many encores.

The production was more than enthusiastically received, not only for the clever make-up of the show, but for the spontaneous way in which it was played.

THE MIKADO

"You Never Can Tell," George Bernard Shaw's immortal satire, was warmly received by the attendants at its four performances on May 11, 12, 18, and 19, 1934. The show, a presentation of Mask and Bauble, was under the capable direction of Wesley Swanson. The plot of the play is concerned with two children who discover their long lost but none too pleasant father.

The cast was a notable one and every character was professionally interpreted. Mary Cover and Olin Browder played the roles of the very modern and merry Clandon twins, and Robert Barrick appeared in the role of the lovelorn dentist, Mr. Valentine. Marian Bradford had the part of the socially reforming mother, Mrs. Lanfrey Clandon, and Catherine Palandech, her very proper daughter. Preston Tuttle was cast as the gentle waiter who cooled the heated scenes between Mr. Fergus Crampton, the forsaken father, played by Philip Auten, and his impossible family. The roles of the two pompous comedians, Mr. Walter Bohun and Mr. Finch McComas, were cleverly played by George Miller and Everette Harris.

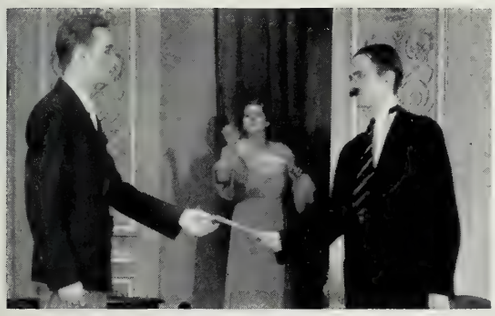

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

Mask and Bauble's presentation of Romney Brent's "The Mad Hopes," presented in the Lincoln Hall Theater on November 2, 8, and 9, was, judging by the crowds and applause, a decided hit. Both the director, Wesley Swanson, and the cast gave this fine comedy an interpretation which anything but suggested an amateur production.

First acting honors of the play must go to Marian Bradford for her very fine Clytemnestra Hope. Her frills and squeaks and gushings were indeed great fun and kept the audience in a continual uproar. George Miller and Julia Lake also displayed considerable ability in their roles of Maurice Klein and Lady Ingleby. Mary Cover and Robert Barrick handled their juvenile roles in a characteristic romantic manner.

THE MAD HOPES

The second grand opera of Arepo's career, "Tales of Hoffman," was greeted on December 14 and 15 with unusual success. Director Kathryn Janie Sutherlin and Conductor Lanson Demming are to be congratulated for bringing this difficult production to this campus.

The finest singing of the opera was done by Nellie Stuart, as Antonia, and La Von Coolman, as Hoffman, while the best acting was performed in the novelty roles of Edward Glass and Helen Burt. Miss Burt's execution of the mechanical doll was truly remarkable. Wilson Dornaus as Miracle, Lillian Nielsen as Guilietta, Blondelle Eldridge as Nicklausse, Charles Seldomridge as Crespel, Charles Cooper as Dappertutto, George Miller as Spalanzani, and Melville Hartman as Cochenilla interpreted their roles in a polished and professional manner.

The settings, costumes, and lighting, handled by technical director, Richard Hadley, were particularly effective. The subtle handling of gauze curtains and colored lights considerably enhanced the beauty of the sets.

TALES OF HOFFMAN

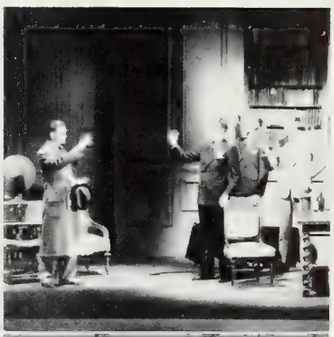

The Union Minstrel Show of 1935, presented in the Lincoln Hall Theatre, met a pleasantly receptive formal audience on its opening night of January 4. Hall Layman as Revelation, and Zeke Seamans as Genesis returned again this year as end men. They were accompanied in their antics by Joe Miksak as Sir Landslide and Harry Jackson as Sir Gadabout. The High Yellow Rhythm of the Chi Omega dancing chorus, the fast Topsy and Eva steps of Virginia Swann and Muriel Gates, the collegiate skit by Ann Noel and Marsh Miller, blended together to make the blackface production successful. The high lights of the evening were the pantomime skits of Lawrence "Huck" Wells. These interludes were uproariously received by the audience and many encores were in order.

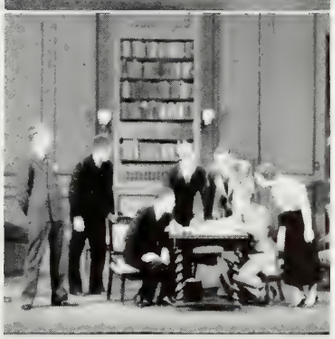

MINSTREL SHOW

The mystery play, "Whistling in the Dark," presented by Mask and Bauble on March 1 and 2 in the Lincoln Hall Theatre, was one of the year's outstanding successes. The play is about a meek and mild author who writes big and bad stories for crime magazines. He falls in with a gang of men who force him to plan a murder to be carried out on a nationally famous criminologist. Under the threat of death the young author plans a most horrible and ghastly murder, but in the end, through a fantastic radio hook up, he warns the victim-to-be, and makes possible the capture of the gang.

Joseph Scott, who played the part of the mild author who entangles himself with the gang, should be praised for a very notable piece of acting. Another outstanding characterization was given by Joseph Miksak in his portrayal of Herman Lefkowitz, the gangster drugstore operator.

Wesley Swanson directed the production, and the technical details were handled by Richard Hadley.

WHISTLING IN THE DARK

This year was certainly no exception to the fine record the Star Course has made for itself. The campus was extremely fortunate in having presented to it world famous artists who are now in the peak of their art.

Richard Crooks, popular leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, opened the season on October 30. Father Bernard Hubbard, the famous Alaskan explorer, followed with an interesting illustrated lecture on November 26. The Star Course was very fortunate in having on December 12 the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, the famous Russian ballet which played to packed houses in both New York and Chicago. On February 19, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra returned for its fourth successive triumph. They were followed on March 6 and 9 by the Old Globe Theatre Players, a special attraction presented in conjunction with the Illini Theatre Guild. The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra closed the series.

Dancing to the soft rhythmic dance music of Anson Weeks and sursounded by unique and colorful decorations, the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-four danced away its final social function. The evening of June 4th was unusually warm and many of the one thousand couples who attended the dance occasionally sought refuge in the cooling breeze outside.

But even the heat of the evening could not have impaired the success of this most popular of social events. The decorations were centered about the orchestra platform which was in the form of a huge shell standing twenty-five feet high. Paper drapes of red, white, blue, and green were focused about the shell, and soft liquid lights of varied hues played about to enhance the beauty of the decorations. The summer formal attire of the dancers was in perfect harmony with the decorations, and the bright and varied colors lent to the whole floor an atmosphere of color and gaiety. The programs, covered with a light metal of platinum finish, upon which a silhouette of the law building was etched, were quite new and original.

The Senior Ball, the climax of all University social functions, is held immediately following final examinations of the second semester. The freedom from studies combined with the pleasant spring atmosphere makes this event a truly enjoyable one.

An impressive grand march, which was limited to the dignitaries of the class, was led by Howard C. Blue and Irmanell Murdock. After the grand march, Ercilia Kiler, who had been elected by the dancers, was introduced and crowned Queen of the Ball.

Anson Weeks in his first appearance on this campus made a decided hit. His fine rhythm and versatility kept the dancers in constant delight and added greatly to the color of the occasion. The orchestra was seated in tiers, one above the other, and from here they were easily able to reflect their charming personalities to the entire group of dancers. Indeed they made an excellent picture seated thus with their white formal jackets and surrounded by a background of blended colors.

The last social function of the Senior Class of 1934 proved to be a dance of distinction and originality. It will not soon be forgotten by those who attended.

Cheery Christmas Spirit was in the air on the night of December 20th, when the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-six celebrated its well known social function—The Junior Prom. It was the night before Christmas vacation and the students were in cheery spirits as they made their way over the crisp, snow-covered ground to the New Gym, the scene of this bright affair.

Inside, the Christmas Spirit seemed even more pronounced. Green and white streamers were hung above the happy dancers and soft red and green lights dimly lit the floor. Jan Garber, "The Idol of the Airlanes," sent forth his soft, syncopated tunes from a platform at the south end of the large floor. Behind the musicians a revolving Christmas tree on a snow white base was silhouetted against a white screen, upon which there was a painting of a reindeer team pulling a sleigh with the traditional, jolly, fat Santa Claus. The Christmas Spirit was carried throughout the entire decorations in expert fashion. In fact the New Gym has seldom been decked in such a fine array of effective colors and lights.

Long, graceful formal gowns of many colors blended harmoniously with the spirit of the decorations and the pronounced black and white of the men's formal dress offered a perfect contrast to the gay color of the gowns. The merry Spirit of Christmas seemed to fill the air and sweep the entire one thousand couples who attended.

The Junior Prom, one of the social highlights of the year, is long anticipated by the members of the Junior Class. They don their formal attire and hasten to join in the festive spirit of the occasion which is enhanced by the approach of the Christmas holidays.

Jan Garber again scored an unusual hit with the smooth style of his sophisticated rhythm. The voice of Lee Bennett, popular crooner, added distinction to the music and warmed the hearts of feminine admirers. Both Lee and "Genial Jan" were kept quite busy autographing dance programs for their many admirers. The balcony was crowded with spectators who had come to hear the music of this well known band and to share in the color of the occasion.

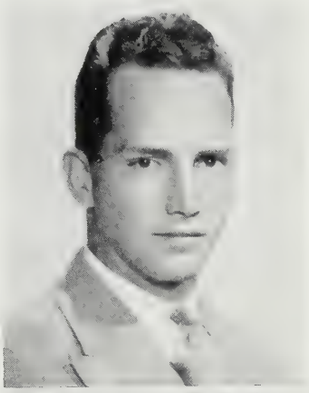

The climax of the evening came with the crowning of the Prom Queen, selected from five candidates and elected by ballot cast at the door by those who attended. This followed an impressive grand march led by Joseph Gartner, president of the Junior Class, and John S. Gill, chairman of the Prom Committee, and their partners. The procession ended before the throne of the Queen, and it was here that the formal announcement was made, and Florine Petri, Alpha Omicron Pi, was designated to step forth and be crowned Queen of theProm. Dignitaries led her to her place on the throne amid the court of honor and there placed the crown upon her head. Thus, as she sat upon the throne, the crown on her head, and the scepter in her hand, photographers' lights flashed upon her and the crowd gathered closer. She was indeed a picture of beauty in all her regal adornments.

Friends crowded in to offer congratulations while others returned to the dancing. The dancers stayed until early morning, for they seemed never to tire of these delightful surroundings and the sweet tunes of Jan Garber. Then they trod back home, weary of feet but happy in the spirit of Christmas.

The Class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-five celebrated its last informal social function by heartily approving the committee's choice of Noble Sissle and his orchestra. This great negro artist with his versatility of style met with the favor of the dancers as he presented a contrast in music—slow dreamy waltzes, perfectly played, and then fast-moving tempos, greatly enhanced by his dominating personality. With the seventeen piece band came two entertainers who provided an unexpected bit of humor and harmony. The audience's approval of these entertainers, as shown by its demands for encores, indicated that they were the best seen at any University dance for many years.

An air of simplicity and extreme informality prevailed all through the evening. The overhanging lights playing on a cut-out of a dancing couple in back of the grandstand gave a novel and striking effect, and the programs in black and white, although simple, were very attractive. At the close of the evening, Noble Sissle played a long medley of soft, melodious songs which were a quiet but very fitting and popular climax to the evening.

The Old Gym Annex assumed a very formal aspect on the night of January 11th. It was the night of the Sophomore Cotillion, the first formal function of the class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-seven. Black and white streamers hung from the ceiling. The lamps, in formal looking black and white, imparted a dark and stately appearance to the Annex.

Two things eased the stiff formality of the occasion: the beautifully gay and colorful dresses and the music of Red Nichols and his fourteen pennies. They seemed to have captured the college spirit, and their music made a real hit with the 650 dancing couples. The dancing was interrupted for a time by the Grand March led by Cameron Brown, class president, and Scotty Brubaker, chairman. Nichols started the evening with slow, dreamy waltz melodies and then turned to a type of his own origination—a combination fast and slow tempo. After the dance his weird theme song seemed to continue floating through the air.

The Greek aristocracy of the campus gathered in the ballroom of the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel on the night of March 29, 1935, to hold the most exclusive of all University social functions—the Pan-Hellenic Ball. Two hundred and fifty couples, acting as representatives of the sororities and fraternities in the Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity Councils respectively, attended this elite and very formal affair.

The decorations, magnificently done in Modern Greek fashion, carried out the Greek theme of the evening, and were set off by the beautiful panelling in the hotel ballroom. The black and white formal dress of the men, interspersed among the many colored, gay, formal gowns of the co-eds offered a pleasant contrast to the decorations.

The combination of excellent music, subdued lighting, original decorations, and feminine charm, gave to the dance the atmosphere of a college formal in all of its attractiveness, while at the same time it offered a pleasant and enjoyable evening for all present.

Red Nichols, international favorite because of his fine phonographic arrangements, national favorite because of his coast to coast radio program and his orchestrations for George Gershwyn's production "Strike Up the Band" and "Girl Crazy," and local favorite because of his fine work at the Sophomore Cotillion of the night before, played for the first social function of the Class of Nineteen Thirty-eight at the Gym Annex on the night of January 12.

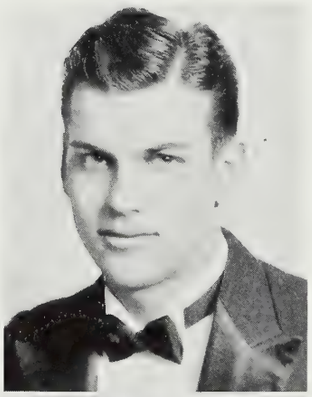

Streamers of black and white hung from above, and white lights played upon the 700 dancing couples. The orchestra stand at the west end of the room was decorated in black and white to carry out the color scheme of the dance.

A general good time was the keynote of the affair. There was none of the formality of the stiff shirts and high hats and the orchestra seemed to catch the spirit as it turned from slow waltzes to a fast modern rhythm. Their Frolic will long be remembered by the Class of Nineteen Thirty-eight.

From the Indian word meaning "spring festival," the Independents have taken Mi-Hila as the name for their annual spring formal dance. This, the most important event of the Independents' social season, was indeed a "spring festival." Men dressed in white flannels, dark coats, and white shoes and co-eds gowned in spring clothes of many hues created a real spring atmosphere.

In addition to the popular dance music, the orchestra played several Indian songs, as well as the semi-official theme song of the dance—a number written in classical style, copied from Victor Herbert's "Natoma." Another feature of the Independents' seventeenth annual dance was the Indian dance by William Newton, better known as Chief Illiniwek. During the evening, the formal pledging of Tomahawk, the sophomore honorary for independent activity men, was held.

The dance is sponsored by the Independent Council in co-operation with the Woman's Group System, and its purpose is to give the independent students a spring formal dance similar to those of the fraternities and sororities.

The Independents made their debut of the campus social season at the Fourth Annual Independent Informal sponsored by the Woman's Group System and the Independent Council, on the night of November 16, 1934. Red Deams and his orchestra, featuring the famous vocalist, Rosemary Short, who won such popularity here at the Summer Prom of last July, returned to the campus to play for the Independents.

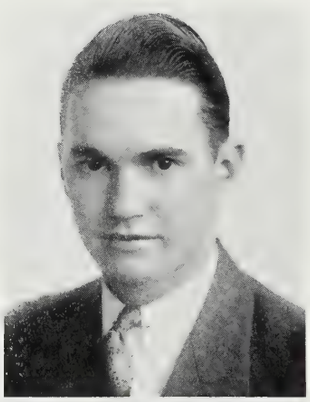

Red's orchestra was as independent as its sponsors. Its imitations of Fred Waring's and Hal Kemp's arrangements were good enough to deceive anyone, and its modern musical arrangements won the popular approval of the dancers. The Independents evidently intended to make the affair a thoroughly enjoyable one, and as the evening progressed, they became truly informal in manner as a miniature battle was waged with the three hundred couples using confetti and serpentine as missiles.

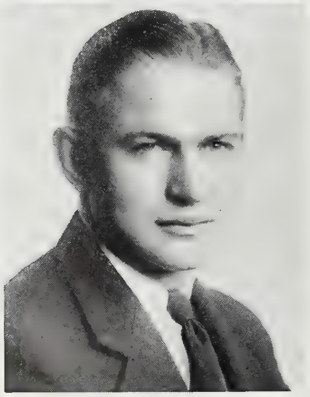

This, the second of the year's dances sponsored by the Woman's Group System and the Independent Council, by reason of its evident success, shows promise of becoming one of the major dances of the University social year.

In keeping with the tradition of the Annual Farmers' Ball, local color predominated as the Ag students made themselves at home in the College Inn and decorated it with bales of hay, piles of straw, kerosene lanterns, and other pieces of farm equipment. The dancers looked very comfortable but a bit informal in their gingham dresses and overalls.

It was not long until the "farmers" and "farmerettes" were engaged in a friendly free-for-all, with hay, straw, and miniature sacks of oats being thrown freely through the air. The Agrarians danced to the music of Emil Flindt and his orchestra who soon caught the rural and rustic spirit and filled the air with appropriate melodies. As the farmers danced, all chores and curfew laws were forgotten. At the close of the evening the two hundred couples paused as the Queen of Agriculture was enthroned upon bales of hay. Though it may have lacked the dignity of many social affairs, it had an air of informality about it which helped to make it one of the best dances of the year. "Stuff shirts" and "corner sitters" were entirely out of place at this dance—all joined in the fun.

Life on the Illinois campus during the summer season may have been uncomfortably hot, but it certainly was never boring. An efficient entertainment committee had planned something for any and every idle moment that any student might have.

The summer social season began with an open house entertainment at the Skating Rink Monday evening, June 18th. Glee Club and Band concerts were a weekly attraction for the music lovers of the campus. The events which proved to be most popular were the open air dances held on the tennis court of the Delta Phi Fraternity house.

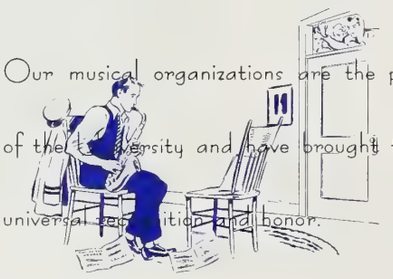

The summer social season was climaxed by the Summer Prom, held in the coolness of the Robeson Roof. It has been a long standing tradition that it never rains on summer prom night, and the weather certainly lived up to expectations. Bathed in the light of the stars and moon, 450 happy couples swayed to the rhythms of Red Deams and his orchestra.

UNIVERSITY BANDS

The University Bands are comprised of three organizations: the Concert Band, the First Regimental Band, and the Second Regimental Band. Places in these organizations are determined by competitive examination and service in them takes the place of the required military drill and tactics. After satisfying their military credit, men qualified as Concert Band members receive a stipend amounting to the annual fees required from students residing in Illinois.

The Concert Band is composed of selected musicians whose main purpose is to study the higher forms of music. Under the leadership of Professor A. A. Harding it has become one of the few truly symphonic bands in existence. In addition to the numerous concerts on campus, the Concert Band broadcasts every Monday afternoon over the University Radio Station, WILL. Its sphere of influence extends far beyond the campus. It cooperates with the Music Educator's National Conference, the National High School Band Association, and the Illinois School Band Association in presenting clinics for bandmasters.

From the ranks of all three bands, the Football Band, a unit of 160 pieces, is chosen each fall. It is the original "a capella" singing band and has thrilled many an enthusiastic football crowd with its intricate formations and brilliant music. The Football Band was drilled in its field performances by the assistant director, Mark H. Hindsley.

MILITARY

PRESENTATION OF AWARDS

UNIVERSITY

Military instruction at the University of Illinois is based on the Morrill Land Grant Act. By this act, State Universities received land from the Federal Government on the condition that military training be a required course. In 1867 the State accepted this act and a plan for military training was adopted by the Board of Trustees.

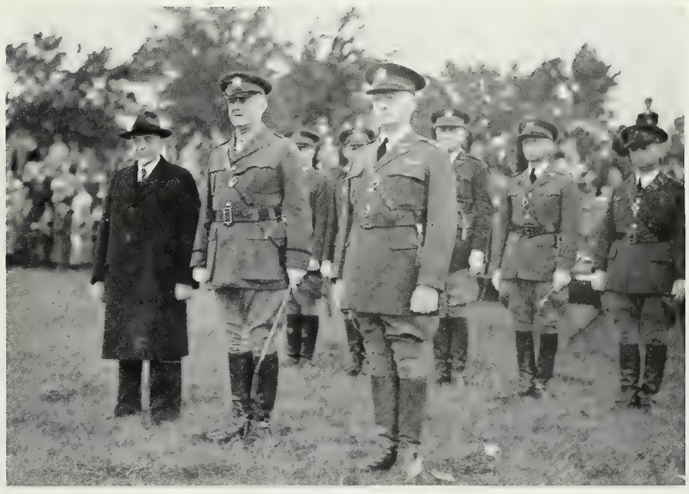

Two courses in military training are offered to the students. The basic course trains a man in the fundamental work and fits him for a corporal or sergeant in the Organized Reserves at the end of his two years work. The advanced course is a continuation of the basic course. From the advanced course come our cadet officers who rank up to and include the cadet colonel and are given rank and advanced as rapidly as ability and diligence permit.

THE FLAG PASSES

BRIGADE

Military Day Reviewing Stand

From one unit, the Reserve Officer's Training Corps has grown to a reinforced brigade containing nearly all the branches of service. The six units included in the reinforced brigade consist of Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Engineers, and Signal Corps.

Each of these units is fully equipped, so as to give the students a thorough practical as well as theoretical training.

In the summer, a six-week training period is offered, at which the cadet officers put into practice the theory learned throughout the school year. The cadet officers, upon completing their two years advanced work, are given commissions by the government in the Organized Reserves. From this point, the rise in rank may continue depending upon the amount of time and interest the men may place upon their military work.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps are endeavoring to acquire a foundation for the qualities of leadership and executive ability which may later be developed in to a valuable need in the event of a national emergency. The immediate benefit to the R. O. T. C. student lies in the development of self-confidence, moral discipline, and in the advantage of character building. In the words of one of the high-ranking military students, "I deem it a privilege and an honor to serve in this organization whose guiding tenet is duty, honor, and service to this University, the State, and our Country."

The Supreme Court of the United States has stated: "Government, federal and state, each in its own sphere owes a duty to the people within its jurisdiction to preserve itself in adequate strength to maintain peace and order and to assure the just enforcement of law. And every citizen owes the reciprocal duty, according to his capacity, to support and defend government against all enemies."

The States are interested in the safety of the United States, the strength of its military forces and its readiness to defend them in war and against every attack of public enemies. Every State has authority to train its able-bodied male citizens appropriately to develop military fitness. The University of Illinois is a land grant college and the courses in Military Science and Tactics have been required subjects since the establishment of the University. The State and the University of Illinois always have lived up to the obligations as defined by the Supreme Court and we now have a well equipped, loyal and efficient R. O. T. C. Brigade, than which there is none better.

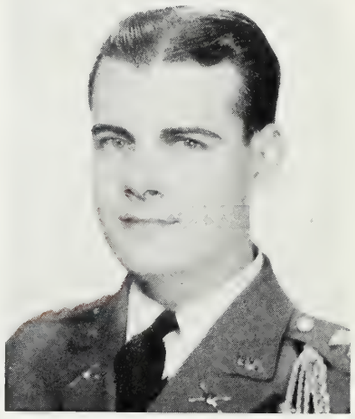

The officers and enlisted men of the regular army, who are on R. O. T. C. duty here feel it to be a great honor and privilege to be associated with the selected young men who are permitted to take the courses in military training, which is limited to those who are physically and mentally qualified.

C O U N C I L

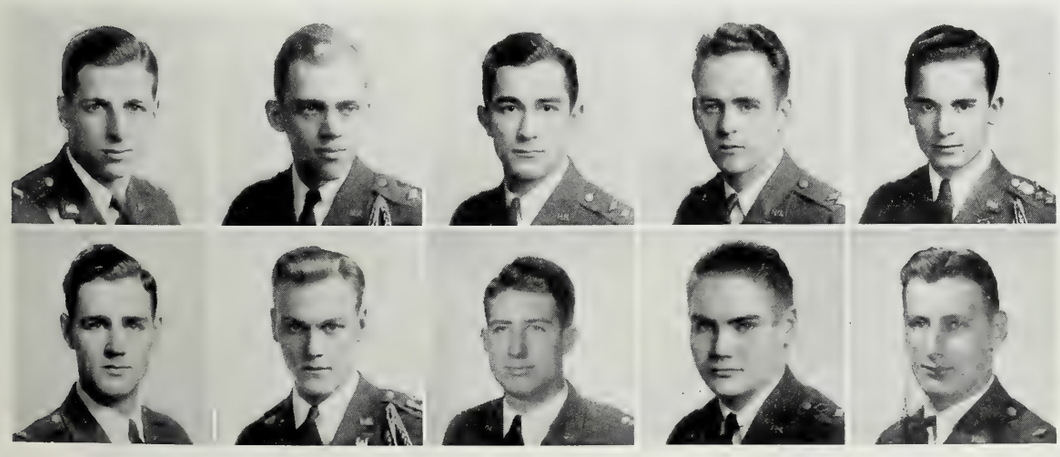

Clifford N. Melzer
Secretary-Treasurer

Founded six years ago, the Military Council has achieved a prominent position at the University. The Council has steadily aimed at a finer co-ordination of the several military units and organizations. The work accomplished along this line has resulted in the strengthening of the R. O. T. C., both in Military and University activities.

The Council has as members men who represent each unit of the University Brigade and each of the military organizations. The representatives from each unit are its Lieutenant Colonel and executive officer, while the representative of each social group is its president or elected representative. There is also a faculty adviser chosen from the officers on duty at the University. With such an organization the Council is fully prepared to govern the various groups.

In addition to this work, the Military Council supervises the student functions of the Military Department such as the Officer's Ball, the Military Ball, and the annual Military show.

The Commandant of the University keeps in close contact with the personnel of the Brigade through the Council. Thus, the student's viewpoint is considered in the determination of the policies for the R. O. T. C.

I N F A N T R Y

PAUL P. FICNERSKI
Lieutenant Colonel

The Infantry like the other R. O. T. C. Units is divided into two courses, the basic and the advanced.

The basic course instruction consists of military fundamentals, weapons, map reading, combat training, and leadership. The student is also given a thorough training in musketry, rifle markmanship, elementary machine gun drill, and scouting and patrolling. This training, after two years, qualifies the student to become a non-commissioned officer in case of a national emergency.

The advanced course gives the students experience in the exercise of command and enlarges upon the same field taught in the basic course.

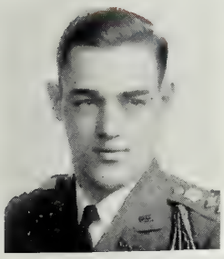

The purpose of this instruction is not only to train men in case of a national emergency, but to produce good loyal citizens.

C A V A L R Y

KENNETH D. BAILEY
Lieutenant Colonel

As for all units in the Military Department, the Cavalry training in each course is divided into the subject groups of Military Fundamentals, Leadership, Cavalry Weapons, and Combat Training.

The objective for the two years of the basic course is to develop the student's initiative, confidence, and ability so that he be qualified to instruct and lead small groups of men either in Military or Civilian endeavor. Riding and rifle workmanship are emphasized.

The objective of the two years of the Advanced Course is the amplification of that of the basic course, development of the student's ability as a rider to include the fundamentals of real horsemanship, and qualification for appointment as a Second Lieutenant in the Officer's Reserve Corps.

ENGINEER CORPS

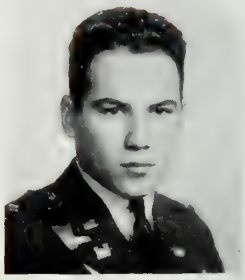

Herbert C. Zilly
Lieutenant Colonel

In peace the engineer builds cities, sewers, bridges, etc., altering the face of nature to accord with some more or less obscure idea of his own. In war, the engineer does the same things he did in peace, but without either time or materials. So the engineering student enrolled in the Engineer R. O. T. C. there gets a rough and ready supplement to the more formal education available at the University.

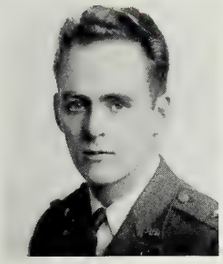

During the drill periods, the student learns how to organize a team of men for the expeditious construction or demolition of structures of all kinds.

The object of the material presented in the Engineer Corps is to qualify the slide rule experts for positions in case of national emergency, and to make them better qualified to perform their duties as citizens in civil peace time practice.

COAST ARTILLERY

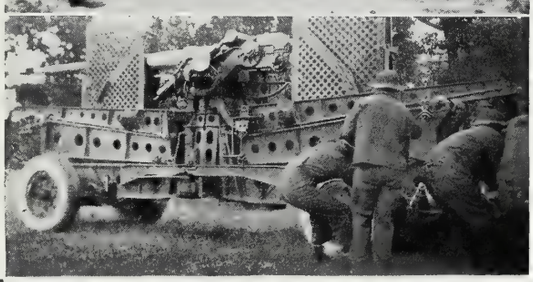

GEORGE W. PERVIER
Lieutenant Colonel

This Unit which actually trains for the Anti-aircraft section of the Coast Artillery is now in its fifth year at the University of Illinois.

The great strides made in aviation in the last few years have clearly indicated that the Air Service in any future war will be a powerful factor, and that an adequate defense for objectives on the ground must be prepared. The Anti-aircraft Artillery is entirely defensive in nature and is the only form of defense which can be operated continuously and instantly. The Unit has now been raised to nearly five hundred men with one additional instructor in keeping with the War Department's call for more Reserve Officers for this branch of the Service. Its summer camp at Fort Sheridan in the midst of the North Shore District is a popular place with students.

FIELD ARTILLERY

Vincent J. Van Meter
Lieutenant Colonel

The "Artillery Drill" of 1881 was the nucleus of the present R. O. T. C. Field Artillery Unit established at the University of Illinois in 1919, and has increased from the battery of eighteen men until it is now the largest unit in the Military Department, with an enrollment last semester of more than one thousand students.

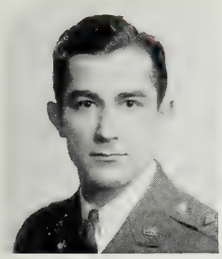

The armament of the Field Artillery of our Army varies from the light 75mm gun to the 240mm Howitzer which fires a 381 pound projectile a distance of more than 9 miles. Motive power for the guns include horse-drawn, pack (on mules), Portée (in trucks), tractors, and truck-drawn.

It is impracticable to instruct students in all methods of traction, so training at the University is limited to horse-drawn artillery and the light gun.

SIGNAL CORPS

James C. Skorcz
Lieutenant Colonel

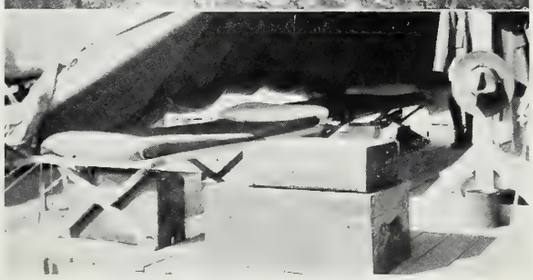

The Signal Corps training in the University of Illinois Reserve Officers Training Corps is divided into two courses, the basic and the advanced.

The basic course corresponds to freshman and sophomore years in the University. The instruction includes citizenship, military discipline, courtesy and customs of service, map reading, and elementary radio and wire communication. On completion of the basic course, the student is qualified to instruct untrained civilians in the duties of private, corporal, and sergeant in Signal Corps Units.

The advanced course, corresponding to the junior and senior years in the University, includes instruction in leadership, advanced radio and wire communication, signal communication tactics and orders, military history and policy, and military law.

Military Ball, April 6, 1934

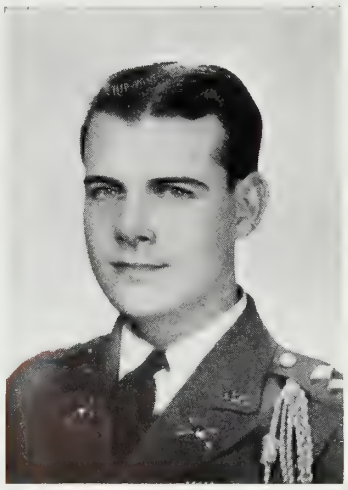

MILITARY BALL

Military Ball reached its climax at eleven o'clock on the evening of April 6, when the Grand March, led by Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Wayne G. Smith and Cadet Lieutenant Colonel James M. Turner, was commenced. Hundreds of couples formed ranks and paraded in review before Colonel Fred R. Brown and Cadet Colonel Franklin G. Emrick.

The New Gym was transformed into a military post for the evening. French 75 mm cannons flanked the bandstand which was built up in the form of a sandbag dugout; floating overhead was a large paper dirigible. These decorations and the officers' uniforms gave the hall a perfect militaristic atmosphere, which was greatly enhanced by the gleaming spurs, shining brass, polished leather, and formal gowns of various styles and hues. Each military unit had a dance named for it. Among them were the "Bolero" of the Field Artillery and the "Turkey Trot" of the Cavalry. Perfect music and an entertaining floor show were afforded by Jan Garber, "The Idol of the Air Lanes."

Cadet Col. Alexander E. Lawson
Chairman

The Military Ball is held under the auspices of the Military Council, with the Cadet Colonel as chairman. Composing the Military Council are high ranking men of each unit and military organization. Because of the policy of limiting the attendance to Military men, and a few outstanding civilians on the campus, Military Ball is considered one of the most important dances of the social season.

Any money that is made over the planned budget is donated to the Military Fund. This fund is distributed among the various units to aid in increasing their functions and making military life more interesting and more complete.

The Officer's Ball, given in honor of the Commandant and the Regular Army Officers stationed at the University, is one of the most exclusive and formal dances of the season. The Ball is held under the direction of the Military Council, and is open only to officers in the advanced corps of the R. O. T. C.

Over two hundred couples attended the third annual Officer's Ball in the Park Ballroom on January 19, dancing to the music of Joe Chromis and his band. Decorations and programs were carried out in a red, white, and blue color scheme.

MILITARY DAY

Every year the University takes a holiday while the R. O. T. C. parades for officials of the Regular Army, the President of the University, and a host of visitors. It is at this time that the University military unit is inspected by the commanding officer of the Sixth Corps Area, or his staff, and special awards are bestowed upon the cadets who have distinguished themselves in military work.

The University of Illinois R. O. T. C. is the largest and probably the finest student military unit in the country, so Military Day is naturally a gala day in the University calendar.

A tribute to work well done, a fitting recognition of ability aided by effort are these keys of scholarship.

Organizations are a source of mutual benefit from close association and they create a bond of friendship that will deepen with the passage of time. . . . . .

ORGANIZATIONS

School life would be quite dull and meaningless for many of us if it were not for the existence of the numerous social organizations on campus. Membership in these creates a spirit of loyalty and responsibility, not only to other individuals and groups but to the University itself, which otherwise would be absent. Young men and women learn to place in the background many of their own selfish interests and to work for the best interests of the larger group. . . . . .

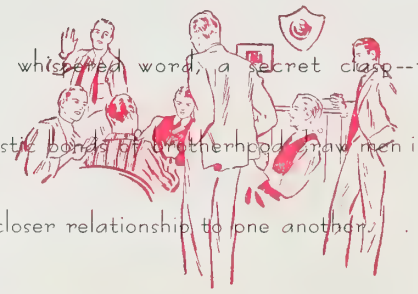

THE LILY POND IN THE SPRING

A whispered word, a secret clasp--the mystic bonds of brotherhood draw men into a closer relationship to one another.

FRATERNITY AND SORORITY LIFE

Fraternity and sorority life is one of varied activity from the time of pledging until graduation. The football season finds the Greek organizations in close competition for the prizes offered at Homecoming for the best decorated houses. Throughout the year, of course, there is keen rivalry for the leadership in extra-curricular activities and scholarship. Intramural competition plays a large part in creating a friendly spirit among the groups, and gives the members a chance to participate in an enjoyable form of recreation. Serenading is a popular form of entertaining the sororities on moonlight nights in spring, and serves to climax a week-end of picnicking and dancing. Truly, college days are busy ones.

The life of the college girl is full of activity from morning till night--a life of study, classes, society, and romance.

The Land Looker

ACROSS prairies and through timberland, where lights in new homes twinkled at dusk, trudged the land-looker of pioneer days.

Back of him, in temporary quarters at a frontier settlement, was his family; ahead of him lay his opportunity to get a home.

No soldier under Caeser, no "doughboy" under Pershing, ever marched with a heavier burden.

A long rifle, an axe, an auger, a window sash with panes in place and a huge knapsack, made of heavy bedticking and crammed with clothing and provisions—those were among the accoutrements of the land-looker as he pressed on into the wilderness.

He sought good plow land. Finding it, he located his quarter-section, built his pre-emption shanty, and lived in it the three days necessary to hold his claim for a year. Then, back more than a hundred miles to the frontier village and his family.

Soon his emigrant wagon was on the westward trail—an ox-drawn wagon, making six miles a day. Boys trudged behind the wagon, driving milch cows and pigs. Mother sat in the front seat lulling the baby to sleep. Father strode, with long whip in hand, and long rifle in convenient grasp, beside the oxen. Stored back in the wagon, were the household goods—home-made furniture, home-made bedding, home-made clothing, spinning wheels, loom and crockery. In a coop, at the rear, were a half-dozen chickens. And swung up tightly to one side of the wagon was that symbol of civilization, chief reliance of the pioneer farmer—a John Deere plow.

Days and days of slow travel, and then—

—a new home-light beamed the message of achievement across the prairie at dusk; another family was established, ready with the John Deere plow to win a prosperous farm from the wilderness.

Thus, long ago, in the hearts of pioneers to whom a good plow meant everything, the seeds of good will for John Deere were planted—good will that extends today to John Deere equipment for practically every farming operation.

"Sure Is Interesting". . . . . .

We'll bet that is just what you exclaimed after reading this year's Illio. And why shouldn't you? It's just chuck full of accounts of just what you and your friends did all during last year. You enjoyed going to the Prom, Military Ball, football games . . . but here is another angle to it—

Just as you enjoyed these things last year, so too will your friends, relatives, and parents enjoy reading about them. But here's a tip. Why not make them even more interesting . . . by letting them keep in touch with you daily through the columns of The Daily Illini. You'll enable them daily to find just what "Zup" will be doing next Fall with the football squad, what the Student Senate is doing, who are on the dance committees, and etc. You'll find they'll appreciate it a lot.

Give them this chance! Include the ILLINI in your budget next Fall!

$5.00 for the entire year mailed

CHAMPAIGN——CHICAGO

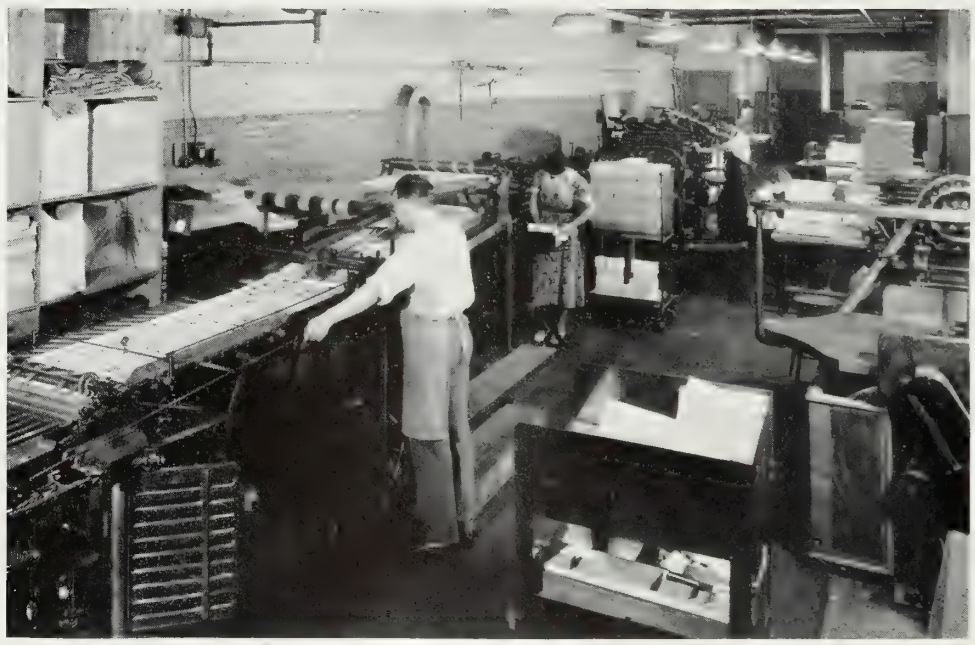

"IT'S GRAND to Hear You SAY THAT"

"To hear you say that"—there's the most appreciated part of a greeting by telephone on the occasion of an anniversary, birthday or graduation. It is easy to say what we mean, to put genuine feeling into our speech, and make others know we are sincere. Distance need not interfere. Voice and personality reach out speedily even to those far away—by telephone. And the telephone also brings back the voice and tidings that we want to hear. A greeting meets a response; a question gets an answer; personal news is given and received. Best of all, telephoning doesn't cost much. Try it the next time you have friends to reach or greetings to extend.

ILLIO
PRINTED AND BOUND UNDER ONE ROOF

THE 1935 Illio, for the first time in more than ten years, is being printed and bound by one concern.

The Hartman-Jefferson Company is proud of the fact that typography, presswork and binding of this beautiful volume were all produced in its modern printing plant, the largest and most completely equipped in downstate Illinois.

A leader in the yearbook field, the Hartman-Jefferson Company also specializes in all types of high grade commercial printing, offset lithography, direct mail advertising, art work, steel die embossing, and magazine and edition book publication.

NEVER IMAGINED THAT Autopoint WAS DIFFERENT..

Until I Compared it with Other Pencils!

I THOUGHT all mechanical pencils were alike until I compared Autopoint—the only pencil with the patented Grip-Tip—with other pencils. The difference amazed me! No more wobbling leads. They don't break and slide out. Good down to the last eighth-inch. And my Autopoint never jams or gets out of order; it can't. You know what a difference those things make in taking notes and doing such work as graphs and charts! Yet Autopoints are low priced in spite of their exclusive and expensive features. See Autopoint and Realite pencils at your nearest dealer. If he hasn't them, order direct.

Molloy-Made cover quality is still serving the best books in the land—just as it did in the pioneer days of the modern yearbook. The cover of this volume is a physical expression of that fine quality and workmanship which the Molloy trademark has always symbolized.

FOR BETTER SEEING

A new Science—the Science of Seeing—gives accurate and tested knowledge about the relations of the eye and light. Scientific tests reveal that reading or any other visual work done under poor light, tires the body as much as hard physical labor. How easily and how well we see depends on the quantity and quality of light. Protect the eyes of your family by providing proper light for every task.
